Great Horse and Ram Show and the Italian Opera.

VISIT TO THE CURRAGH CAMP--ITS PLEASURES AND PAINS.

A Non-Combatant's Description of a Sham Fight.

The United States Frigate Congress--The Brutal Murderer Montgomery--Criminal Agrarian Outrages.

[Correspondence of the Boston Globe.]

DUBLIN, August 23, 1873.

Horse Show and Italian Opera.

Since I last wrote to you, a good deal of time has elapsed, because there is very little of interest now transpiring, and it is not always advisable to write letters if you have nothing to write about. Now, however, I shall try and give you one more letter before the dull season comes to an end, which in Dublin, I am thankful to say, will be soon now, as next week the Royal Dublin Society's Great Horse and Ram Show will take place, and that event excites so much interest in this agricultural country that everybody who is anybody is expected to leave castle and country house and come up to town. Nor will the horse show be the only attraction, for, in anticipation of the crowd of visitors, the Gaiety Theatre has engaged a fine Italian Opera Company to sing for twelve nights. It is composed of many of the bright stars of the Royal Italian Opera in London, and includes such names as Marimore, Corani, Demeric La Blanche, Bettina, Serazzi, Foli and a host of others. This will be followed by three weeks of Italian opera at the Theatre Royal by members of Her Majesty's Opera, London, including Tietiens, Marie Roze, Sinico, Justine Nocovitz, Frebelli Betteni, Alviora Salleria Camero, Urio, and a host of others ending in "o" or "i." In addition to all this we have this week and next, at the Royal the best of all English companies, that of the Haymarket Theatre in London. Mr. Kendal, Mr. Buckstone and Miss Madge Robertson (Mrs. Kendal) are inimitable. The whole company is good, but these three are beyond criticism. They have been playing Gilbert's last sensation, "The Wicked World," but are to devote next week to the fine old comedies, and, to-night, are to give Pygmalion and Galatia as nobody else can give it. Mr. Arnott of this company has been engaged as leading man for the new Fifth Avenue Theatre in New York, where I feel convinced he will become a favorite. I cannot wind up this theatrical gossip into which I have drifted without referring to Miss Emily Soldene, who is giving English versions of French opera bouffe at the Gaiety. Should she ever go to America I am sure she would make a sensation with her sweet voice and mammoth loveliness. Imagine a gentle giantess, not far from six feet high, gloriously proportioned and endowed with a charming voice. She has none of the French piquancy about her, as you may suppose, but she has a way of her own which is certainly acceptable.

The Frigate Congress.

Last week the United States steam frigate Congress was here for a few days. She has been making a round of visits, beginning with Galway, then going to Londonderry, Greenock, Belfast and Liverpool. At all of those places she was most hospitably received, and the American officers were no less hospitable than the Irish and Englishmen. In Belfast, the Mayor gave them a luncheon, and the Sixth regiment gave them a dinner. In Liverpool, the Mayor gave them a dinner, and the Consul, General Fairchild, gave them a very elegant banquet, to which all the foreign consuls and city officials were invited. I have heard that in one Irish port an address, all illuminated with shamrocks and harps without crowns, was presented to the Captain by some enthusiastic Fenians, who labored under the delusion that the Congress had merely come to spy out the land prior to the speedy coming of that American fleet which is believed to be coming over to free Ireland, one of these days. They made a mistake, however, as I believe Captain Rhinds informed them. After all the gayety in other places, it may be that the rest and quiet of Dublin was pleasant to the officers, and I hope it was, because nobody here gave dinner, or ball, or luncheon in their behalf and the Lord Mayor did not even call upon the ship, though she was crowded with curious sight-seers every day during the hour when the Captain permitted visitors on board. The Congress has gone to Hull, and, I think, will from thence visit several German ports.

The Curragh Camp.

Perhaps the most interesting place in Ireland just now is the Curragh Camp, in the County Kildare. The Curragh is a stationary camp of wooden huts, laid out in regular streets and squares, and there are always several regiments of soldiers quartered there; but just now most of the troops and several regiments of militia from all parts of the island have been concentrated there for general instruction and manœuvres, so that there are said to be about 15,000 men in all. Every day there are regimental or divisional drills and exercises, and twice a week sham fights take place, which are very interesting. Early this week I accepted the invitation of a friend of mine and paid a visit to the Curragh. An hour on the Great Southern and Western railway, half an hour's drive on an outside car, over a smooth winding road, bounded by trees or tangled hedges, and I reached my destination, a low, wooden house, technically styled a hut here. In this house were four small rooms, occupied by three officers and their traps, and there accommodation was found for me. An iron bedstead, a toilette table, some trunks, pegs and a chair, with an iron washstand, formed the furniture of the rooms, and one end of the little hall, partitioned off by a curtain, contained the tubs for the morning ablutions.

The mess hut of the regiment, also a long, low, brown wooden structure, had a little porch in front, opening into a comfortably-furnished lounging-room, with tables, easy chairs and late papers, and that in turn opened into the dining-room. To any one coming down with the general idea of the hardships and discomforts of a soldier's life, a first dinner in that mess-room must have been a revelation. Thirty or forty men, mostly in full dress uniform, but a few guests in evening black and white, surround a long table, glittering with the finest of Irish damask and handsome plate, with flowers and exotic fruits arranged artistically upon it. Numerous white-tied waiters flit busily behind, who are plying the champagne bottles and changing plates as item after item of the bounteous menu comes in. Camp fare at the Curragh is by no means hard to take, and, indeed, for elegance of decoration, excellence of cookery and propriety of demeanor, the mess table I dined at would have compared favorably with the dinner table of any lady in the land. After dinner there was adjournment to the next room, smoking and card-playing, and everybody in bed in good time, for there was to be a field day to-morrow. Do not understand from this that every mess in the camp is like this. There is not one where good food and drink cannot be had in plenty; but some excel others in table decorations and in plate, and some in deportment. I heard of one regimental mess where, on a great night, the grave, gray-bearded Colonel after dinner, was mounted in an arm-chair on the table, while the other officers marched past--representing the artillery by men walking on their hands, while others held up their feet, and the cavalry by all getting on chairs and prancing down the room, resulting in terrible disaster when a right-about wheel was attempted. I know of another where, after dinner, a dispute arose as to the sobriety of two of the officers, which was settled by each in turn getting on the table and running from one end to the other, the soberest man breaking fewest glasses. But these, you know, are exceptional cases.

Sham Fight.

At 9½ the regiments begin to form and march down in their appointed places, among the fields and hillocks, forming the scene of the appointed battle. It is a fine sight. Militia in dark scarlet, line regiments in lighter red, guards in white jackets, brass helmeted dragoons and gaudy pennoned lancers, marching and wheeling to place over the green sward, with here and there a black line of riflemen or a rattling battery of artillery. Under the guidance of a courteous surgeon, I, on the day I was there, took up a position on the top of an ancient Celtic fort or mound, known as the Gibbet-rath. A company of the Twenty-third were there and a detachment of lancers. Very soon guns began to fire from the enemy's distant line, then the white-watered guards could be seen advancing as skirmishers, lancer videttes went scouring about, the Tyrone fusileers marched forward in a body, and our friends and neighbors of the Twenty-third left the rath and advanced on the double quick, occasionally dropping down behind the furze bushes and then again advancing. The artillery by this time was pretty generally engaged and the rifles were cracking continually. I can not, if I would, give a coherent account of the battle. I know there were some beautiful cavalry charges, there was a great deal of firing and rushing about of artillery; there was a flank charge of cavalry by which the side with which I had connected myself lost a gun, and there was a blunder of Lord Abinger, Colonel of the Scotch Fusilier Guards, who marched his own and another regiment into a place where the umpire (Lord Sandhurst, Commander of the Forces in Ireland) decided they would have been slaughtered by the hill batteries playing on them. There was a good deal of galloping about the umpire and a brilliant staff, which included their Excellencies, the Lord Lieutenant and Lady Spencer, and then there was weary marching back to camp, and a late, but hearty luncheon, the men meanwhile having their dinners. I had attached myself to the fortunes of General Sir Thomas Steele, partly because Lady Steele is an American, and chiefly because in so doing I had only about twelve miles of walking instead of more than twenty. When I got to luncheon I found much discussion going on as to which side was beaten. My hosts knew that, thanks to Lord Abinger, they were all massacred, but the officers of both divisions closely resembled the Iron Duke who did not know when he was beaten. Nor was it until the next day that we learned that General Sir Thomas Steele's army had got the worst of it.

Walk Around Camp.

This camp is a curious place, at least so it seemed to me when I walked through it in the afternoon after the battle. There are long streets of brown huts, and squares for regimental and company drill. There are officers' quarters, men's quarters, married soldiers' huts and hospitals. There is a library and a gymnasium and a racket court. There are shops and canteens, and side by side two brown churches, exactly alike outside, devoted to the English and the Roman services. At each end there are tents in which are quartered two famous regiments of militia, the North Cork and the Queens County. Not content with the sham fights, these bold boys got up a specimen of the real article one night, about a fortnight ago, and so battered each other and cut each other with their bayonets that it took four regiments of the line to soothe them into subjection. The result was the two belligerent regiments were deprived of their arms and moved from their comfortable huts into tents, which, in this moist country, are anything but agreeable.

A Non-Combatant's View.

The cleanliness of the camp is admirable, and everything is charmingly neat. Down in the hollow there is a reservoir and water works, and hydrants, or, as they call them here, pumps, are plenty in the camp. Fire apparatus is also there, and great sheet iron screens on wheels, to be placed between any burning building and the next houses, for protection. But I think I have said enough of the Curragh. If I could describe a battle well, like Victor Hugo, for instance, I do not doubt I might make a very effective picture of these bloodless, noisy days at the Currah, but as I can not I have certainly said as much about them as I am warranted in doing. There seems to the uneducated eye of a non combatant to be a good deal that is farcical about the sham fights, and there is a good deal of horse play and boyish fooling in the conduct of the officers. When half a dozen boys of twenty to twenty-five catch a sheep and put him through the window into the room of a brother officer, we laugh and think what boys these men are. But when I see a number of men prancing round on inverted chairs like so many little boys, and when I see that more than one of those very men swears on his breast that proudest of all decorations, the Victoria cross, that medal which tells of horrors witnessed in India, of privations in the Crimea, of some one deed at least of preeminent bravery and courage and cool endurance; when I remember that I have been told that there is not a man in England worth calling a man, who wouldn't rather have the Victoria cross than a peerage--then I reflect that perhaps this sort of boyishness and carelessness, almost silliness, may be a good sign after all, and might be well worth cultivating to a limited extent if it has anything to do with the production of education of the heroes of the Victoria cross.

The Farm Laborer Agitator.

There is little news in Ireland worth repeating. Mr. Arch, the farm laborer agitator, has visited Ireland, and seems to have fallen very flat here, the only apparent excitement being made by Mr. Isaac Butt's effort to saddle home rule ideas upon Mr. Arch's pet hobby.

Montgomery, the Murderer.

Montgomery, the brutal murderer of the cashier of the bank at Newtownstuart, is to be hanged next Tuesday. You may remember the circumstances. Montgomery was Inspector of Constabulary, and a friend of the murdered man. He deliberately planned the deed, and executed it in broad daylight, stunning him with a blow over the head, and then running a letter file into his ear, after which he sat down and read the Belfast News-Letter until his victim was cold, and then ransacked the bank and walked off with the money, returning in time to take part in the search that was made for the murderer. By a curious chain of circumstantial evidence the crime was traced to him, but he denied it, and by some means so intimidated two juries as to make the trial result in their disagreement; but the third trial ended differently, and as soon as he was condemned, he made a bold, bad confession, trying to implicate others and confessing to other intended crimes. I believe there has never before been a criminal so universally detested in Ireland; and I have been told by the controller of the vice-regal household that he is the only murderer for whom no one at all has petitioned for pardon. Not even the fanatics or anti-capital punishment people have felt it their duty to say a word in his favor, and in all human possibility he will be hanged in Omagh, on Tuesday.

Agrarian Outrages.

A criminal agrarian outrage took place in County Waterford, Tuesday night. It seems that two farmers had procured some reaping and mowing machinery which they meant to use on Wednesday, but on the previous night a band of men appeared at one farm and smashed the implements to atoms. On the next night the other farm was visited and the machinery there treated in the same manner. Yesterday the farmers made charges against unknown men before a magistrate, and it is certainly to be hoped that the perpetrators may be caught and punished, for, I have been told by gentlemen from various parts of the country, the population has so greatly decreased that were it not for the aid of agricultural machinery it would be utterly impossible to get in the crops. ## LATEST FROM THE OIL REGIONS.

Large Strikes at Millerstown and Modoc--The Production Elsewhere.

SATURDAY'S Oil City Derrick contains the following:

MILLERSTOWN, September 26, 8 P. M.--The Prentice well, on Barnhart farm, reached the sand to-day, and began flowing at the rate of about five hundred barrels. It is located a short distance west of the Wolf well. The Argus well, on the Adam Stewart farm, which was struck yesterday, is estimated at fully a thousand barrels, and only two or three feet in the sand.

FAIRVIEW, September 26--8 P. M.--A new well on the Troutman farm, Modoc, began flowing last night in immense quantities, variously estimated at from six to eight hundred barrels. It is situated near the coal mine below the Troutman well, and owned by William Vandergrift and other parties.

FAIRVIEW, September 26--9 P. M.--Tack & Moorhead well No. 2, on McAleer farm, is flowing in greatly increased quantity to-day, from the so-called "fourth sand." The well reached the third sand several days ago, with good indications, but the owners resolved to drill further, and it is now flowing over six hundred barrels. This increases the excitement over the "fourth sand," and other wells are expected to reach it in a few days.

GREENE well No. 3, the latest strike in Oil City territory, continues to flow at the rate of three hundred barrels a day, with no symptoms of weakening. Bly & Main well No. 2, a few yards directly north, is pumping and flowing one hundred and eighty barrels, while the Leedom, on the east side, is doing one hundred and fifty.

FOURTH SAND THEORY.--A dispatch from Petrolia to the Titusville Herald says: The Tack & Moorhead well No. 2, which struck the fourth sand last night, is still doing six hundred barrels. Mr. Tack says he is satisfied the wells on this farm were always pumped in the stray sand heretofore, and that the fourth sand theory is a fallacy.

THE flowing wells in the Modoc District at present number twenty-four, and they have an average production of 7,200 barrels per day. This is exclusively of the McLellan farm. The average falling off of these wells since the first of this month has been at the rate of one-third every forty days.

BETWEEN Petrolia and Martinsburg the average production of each well will not exceed ten barrels a day. Nine months or a year ago these wells would have made an average of fifty barrels.

ABOUT fifty wells between Petrolia and Fairview will not make a larger average than twenty barrels per day for each well. The same may be said of all the wells between Petrolia and Karns City.

THE Highflyer well on the Troutman farm, Modoc, owned by Norton, Adams & Co., struck the sand Friday night. She is flowing at the rate of four hundred barrels per day.

SATURDAY morning last the brewery and barn of Hiram Morris, at Corry, were entirely destroyed by fire. The total loss is estimated at $12,000.

STOTEBURY'S WAX NOSE.

How the Fraud Was Detected.

Stotesbury lost his nose in early life during an interview with a patent hay chopper, but he succeeded in procuring a wax nose of such marvelous construction, that only keen scrutiny could detect the fraud. One night last winter, while Stotesbury was on his way to Miss Johnson's, a tremendous fire broke out, and Stotesbury stopped to look at it. He became deeply interested and drew quite near to the flame. The heat was so great that Stotesbury's nose soon gradually softened, and assumed something of the shape of a raw oyster. He did not notice it, however, but went calmly onward to Miss Johnson's. When he entered, the servant girl at the door gave one startled look at him and began to laugh in a most boisterous manner. Stotesbury, indignant, pushed onward to the parlor; as he entered Miss Johnson rose to receive him. As she caught a glimpse of his nose she stopped, looked amazed and then buried her face in her handkerchief in a convulsion of laughter. "What is the meaning of this strange conduct, Miss Johnson," demanded Stotesbury. "Oh, Mr. Stotesbury, please excuse me--but wha--wha--wha--what's the matter with your nose?" Stotesbury went to the pier-glass, gazed at that cereous oyster on his face, jammed his hat suddenly on his head, and fled from the room. As he reached the entry he found Miss Johnson's little brother just coming in the door, and as that urchin perceived the condition of Stotesbury's face, he gave one loud yell and shrieked, "Oh, Tilly, come here, come here quick, and look at old Stotesbury's nose!" Then Stotesbury emerged all at once from the front door and went home. He is now wearing an India-rubber nose, and he goes past Johnson's without ringing the bell.

THIS is what they do in Pottsville: A new trick has been introduced in this borough, and the bar keepers don't like it. Our readers can readily see why when they hear what the trick is. A man enters a saloon, calls for a drink, receives it, gets as near the door as he can without exciting suspicion, holds over the liquor a fly, previously secured for the occasion, and pretends that the horrid object has actually fallen into his cup. While the obliging bar-tender goes for a spoon to scoop the fly up, the man bolts the drink, and flies out of the door.

THE FINANCES.

The Panic About Ended.

BUSINESS IN THE OLD CHANNELS.

Cheering Prospect for the Future.

Jay Gould on the Situation.

NEW YORK, September 29.--Jay Gould, being asked for his views concerning the financial situation, gave them as follows: "I think the panic is over. I have every faith now in an advance in prices, and believe the market will be more buoyant than for a long time. Wall street has been cleared out of a great part of the worthless stocks and so-called securities by the purging process of the panic, and there are comparatively few stocks now quoted, except those of real value. In all cases prices are now too low, and in that of good dividend paying stocks a very large advance is necessary to bring them up to their actual worth. The reasons for an advance are that the money market will become easy as soon as the Stock Exchange is opened, owing to the very large quantities of greenbacks which have been disbursed by the Government in its late bond purchases; that an immense amount of capital has been put into circulation by the action of the banks in issuing Clearing House certificates, which displace a corresponding quantity of currency; that England is sending over millions of gold, which will come into active use immediately on its arrival, and that speculation has had such a long sleep that it will be all the more lively when it wakes up again."

Employes Thrown Out of Work.

The disturbed state of the money market has made it necessary for some of the large firms in this city to discharge many of their hands and give others only three or four days' work a week. A large manufacturing firm has closed up altogether. Much difficulty is experienced by employers in getting cash for their workmen, and on Saturday last many were paid either in whole or in part in checks. In neighboring cities a similar condition of affairs exists.

All Advices Favorable.

All advices to-day touching the financial situation at home and abroad are of a reassuring character. The reopening of the Stock Exchange to-morrow is an event anticipated with much less apprehension than has heretofore been the case, owing to many private settlements and to a manifest disposition towards forbearance and generous dealing between man and man.

Meeting of the "Governors."

At a meeting of the Governing Board of the Stock Exchange this afternoon it was resolved: That nothing in the action of the Governing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange shall be concluded as absolving any member from his obligations to the rules; that all parties to existing unsettled contracts who were present at the closing of the Exchange, but who shall refuse to surrender a satisfactory principal or furnish a margin in cash or securities, shall be regarded as insolvent; that so much of Article 25 of the By-laws as authorize an officer of the board to close contracts of parties in default be suspended as to existing contracts during three days after the opening of the Exchange; that the President shall appoint a committee of three, which shall be in session from 2:15 until 2:45 each day, to determine on an equitable market price, to which margins shall be made to conform, and also to determine the market price at which contracts of defaulting parties shall be settled; that all contracts shall be settled by checks certified as "good through the Clearing House," but where a check is tendered upon a bank which is not satisfactory the parties must agree upon what shall be satisfactory, but no demand for greenbacks or currency shall be allowed; that all Government coupon bonds on which interest is payable November 1st shall be called "ex coupon."

The Probable Future.

Very many, and among them some of the oldest and shrewdest heads of the Exchange, hold to the belief that it is yet too early to set in motion the wheels of the Stock Exchange machinery. Assuming that although a great degree of confidence has been restored in this centre, as evidenced by the checking of the runs on banks and banking houses and savings institutions, yet throughout the country a longer time must necessarily elapse before a feeling of security can be engendered. On the other hand, it is claimed that the moment stocks can be regularly traded in legitimately, greenbacks and currency, which have been hoarded during the last week or ten days, will be generously sent in here for the purchase of stocks, and thus gain a general circulation again, and eventually find their way into the banks, thus swelling their reserves. Business is decidedly improving at the Produce Exchange, and a much more hopeful feeling is expressed. In fact, business is said to be getting back into the old channels and gloomy apprehensions as to foreign exchange appear to be yielding to brighter prospects.

Meeting of the Clearing House Association.

A meeting of the Clearing House Association was held at the Merchants bank this afternoon, to take action on propositions submitted by a committee of the Produce Exchange to a committee of bank Presidents this morning, with the object of aiding foreign exchange. David Daws and Mr. Humphrey represented the Produce Exchange and spoke in behalf of their plan. They desired the Clearing House Association to appoint a committee of five, representing as many different banks, to buy commercial bills with bills of lading attached, and make a requisition on the Loan Committee for an issue of Clearing House certificates for the benefit of shippers. The proposition was referred to the Loan Committee for a report at a future meeting, which will probably be held to-morrow.

Union Trust Company.

Westly, receiver of the Union Trust Company, this morning denied the report that Commodore Vanderbilt had returned to the company their loan to the Lake Shore railroad.

Meeting of the Loan Committee.

The Loan Committee of the Clearing House met this morning to conclude the issue of loan certificates. Manager Camp said that everything looked favorable for the banks and the public, and he could see no reason for further disaster.

Resumption of Specie Payments Urged.

The Tribune to-morrow will contain a leader advocating the immediate resumption of specie payments. "The country is passing its grandest opportunity since the war. There has not been since the passage of the legal tender act any financial situation or crisis that so held out all its hands inviting to resumption. Shall we let it go by? The crisis calls for a firm hand, clear head and determined purpose. That's all. To day's opportunity is for the country, for the dominant party, and for the President. Let the President issue his proclamation convening Congress in an extra session at eight or ten days' notice, with the sole object, distinctly stated in the call, of legislating for the immediate resumption of specie payments. For ten days past the people have done almost nothing but stand in the front of their balance sheets and inventories, and see a rapid and constant shrinkage in values, and there is no knowing where it will stop or when, for the simple reason that there is no financial 'hard pan.' Some time we must get back to specie. That is admitted. Why not now? When will there be a better time? When would the whole country be more benefited by it than now? There ought to be statesmanship enough in Congress to devise a simple, practicable method. Let President Grant settle it, so far as he is concerned, by convening Congress and putting upon it the responsibility of meeting the emergency."

Washington.

WASHINGTON, September 29.--The refusal of the national banks in Philadelphia to pay drafts upon them in currency having threatened to deprive the postal money order office in that city of resources on which it largely depends for remittances from country offices, the postmaster was to-day authorized to draw for a limited amount on the department's reserve deposited in the Sub-Treasury at New York City. Similar embarrassments were foreshadowed by numerous telegrams from Western postmasters on Saturday, but they generally report to-day that the banks have resumed currency payments. The Patent Office to-day refused to receive the payment of fees in certified checks except upon banks willing to cash them.

It is supposed that the falling off in internal revenue receipts to-day, as compared with last Monday, namely, $200,000, is mainly, if not altogether, attributable to the scarcity of currency for remittances.

Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, September 29.--At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this morning, being the largest assemblage of bankers and business men in Charleston in many years, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the President be instructed to prepare a memoranda to the President of the United States and the Secretary of the Treasury, praying that the Secretary place and maintain on deposit with the Assistant Treasurer at Charleston the sum of $500,000, to be used by him in the purchase from banks of exchange on New York, and that such memorial be forwarded at once to Washington in the name of the Chamber of Commerce of Charleston.

Charlotte, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., September 29.--The panic has had but little, if any, effect here. All the banks, State and national, are open as usual, and loaning merchants money to buy cotton. There is no disposition to withdraw deposits. On the contrary, the people are sustaining the banks with large deposits.

Concord, N. H.

CONCORD, N. H., September 29.--The banks in this city have adopted the course taken by the banks in other places, and will pay currency only in small amounts for the accommodation of local business. There is no apprehension of serious embarrassment.

Milwaukee.

MILWAKEE, September 29.--The Chamber of Commerce met this morning, but adjourned until to-morrow noon, under the following resolution: Resolved, That the Board stand adjourned under the existing resolution until Tuesday noon, September 30th, provided that this further adjournment shall not prevent the transaction of any new business, and this committee recommends that parties having trades in options shall arrange between themselves for a settlement or continuance of contracts until the property can be paid for.

Washington.

WASHINGTON, September 29.--The city is free from financial excitement. Recent statements received from the North of the improved condition in affairs have had a tranquilizing effect in Washington to such an extent that several gentlemen connected with the banking combination say in the course of a few days checks for small amounts will be cashed instead of certified. Another favorable sign is that many of the large depositors in the Washington Savings Bank are concerting, with a view to the resumption of its business.

Salt Lake.

SALT LAKE, September 29.--The financial situation is greatly improved. The panic has apparently completely subsided. A few certificates from mining companies and some accounts were presented and paid by the banks. The banking houses and bankers are perfectly confident of meeting every liability. The First National Bank, which suspended on Saturday, is strengthening its resources, and will undoubtedly resume in a few days. National Bank Examiner N. H. Longbad, of the Pacific coast, is here, examining into the affairs of the banks. The tightness of the money market is likely to cripple business in bullion and ores for a few weeks, compelling a suspension by the smelters.

Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, September 29.--The German banks, seven in number, which closed their doors on Saturday, made application for membership in the Clearing House to-day. They were received. Two other banks were admitted, making twenty-one in all. The banks were paying out a limited amount of currency to-day. Merchants generally are satisfied with certified checks. Manufacturers anticipated inconvenience in getting funds to pay their hands, but the banks pledged themselves to look after their interests as far as possible. It is generally believed the pressure will be of short duration.

Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, September 29.--There has been a well-defined improvement here to-day in the feeling with reference to the financial disturbances of the country. The day's work with the banks has been most satisfactory.

St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, September 29.--The financial situation has been very quiet to-day. A much more confident feeling has been manifested in nearly all circles. There is a great lack of currency with which to transact business, and discounting is quite limited, but the banks are mostly paying checks on hand, and there is a decidedly more tranquil and hopeful tone on 'Change.

Suspensions.

PHILADELPHIA, September 29.--Benj. Bullock & Son, extensive wool dealers, suspended this morning for a large sum, but they have ample assets to pay all their obligations. Their suspension was caused by the failure of the Glenham Manufacturing Company of New York, which owe them about $600,000. Joseph Bullock, one of the firm, is a director of the Corn Exchange National Bank, but they owe that institution only $45,000, which is covered with collaterals for twice the amount.

NEW YORK, September 29.--The Glenham Manufacturing Company, a flourishing corporation for more than fifty years, having extensive woolen mills at Glenham, New York, and its office at 293 Broadway, suspended this morning. President Dart said it was due to the depression of business, and resulted directly from the financial panic, which had prevented merchants from going on as they otherwise would. Previous to the disturbance in Wall street the outlook for business was good. He was not prepared to make even an approximate statement, and could not tell whether the suspension would be final or only temporary before learning the disposition of the creditors. He was also unable to say whether the creditors were chiefly individuals or corporations, as it is impossible at present to tell where the paper of the company is placed. The company was organized in 1820 by Peter H. Schreck, grandfather of President Dart. James Dart, brother of the latter, is Treasurer, and the organization is wholly a family affair. The original capital was $140,000, and it has always been maintained at that figure, but Mr. Dart said that at least $1,000,000 had been expended on the company's works. The company owns two hundred acres of land at Glenham, with large factories for the manufacture of woolen goods, and dwelling houses for all of five hundred operatives. Mr. Dart was unable to say whether the suspension would result in throwing all these operatives out of work, as this would largely depend upon the action of the creditors.

LONDON, September 29.--One failure is reported from Hamburg. It is expected that additional suspensions will be announced in London to-morrow morning.

ST. LOUIS.

Exciting Scene in Court.

ST. LOUIS, September 29.--A scene of great excitement occurred late this afternoon in the Criminal Court, which threatened at one time to be tragical. Joseph H. Fane, who attempted to kill his wife on the street with a hatchet on the 4th of last June, was on trial. Mrs. Fane had been examined at great length, and as she retired from the witness stand and took her seat between her father and Jas. H. Calcord, one of her counsel, her husband seized a large cut glass ink stand from the table and hurled it at her with great force. The Marshal of the Court saw Fane's movement in time to catch his arm, which changed the direction of the ink stand, and instead of striking Mrs. Fane, struck Mr. Calcord on the forehead, cutting a gash about two inches long and nearly knocking that gentleman senseless. Fane was immediately seized by the Marshal and others, and after a severe struggle, during which nearly all his clothes were torn off, he was taken from the court room and order restored.

MISSISSIPPI.

No Election this Year.

MEMPHIS, September 29.--The Avalanche's Jackson special says that in accordance with Attorney General Morris' recent opinion, the Governor of Mississippi has issued a proclamation declaring his belief of the correctness of the opinion, and that according to the Constitution no election can be held until November, 1874, when Congressmen, State officers and Legislators will be elected. He appeals to the people of the State, and enjoins upon all the officers of the State and of the several counties to aid him in carrying into practical effect the provisions of the Constitution bearing on this important question. The Pilot (Ames' organ) denounces the proclamation as incendiary and refractory.

TITUSVILLE.

The "Titusville Trunk Pipe Line Company" Formed.

TITUSVILLE, September 29.--A company was organized this morning, composed of the most prominent men of this city, under the name of "Titusville Trunk Pipe Line Company," with a capital stock of $250,000, and will proceed immediately to laying lines for the transportation of oil to this point from all producing districts, including the Butler county districts.

Gold for New York.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Shipments of Gold to New York.

LONDON, September 29.--Two hundred and twenty-five thousand pounds in bullion were shipped from Plymouth to New York on Saturday, and the steamship which sailed from Southampton the same day for New York took out sixteen thousand. Engagements have been made for the shipment of fifty thousand by the steamship from Southampton to-morrow. It is said five hundred thousand are looked for by shipments this week. The amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day is £638,000.

Increase in the Rate of Discount.

The Directors of the Bank of England have fixed the minimum rate of discount at five per cent. This announced increase in the rate caused much surprise in financial circles.

Failure of Brokers.

The failure of three brokers in consequence of the fall in Erie shares is announced.

Fenian Meeting at Drogheda.

DUBLIN, September 29.--There was a large meeting at Drogheda yesterday in favor of the release of Fenian prisoners. Several members of Parliament participated in the proceedings.

Cholera at Liverpool.

Typhoid Fever.

LONDON, September 29.--The cases of typhoid fever in this city are daily increasing in number.

No Election in Tralee.

There will be no election in Tralee, the O'Donoghue member of Parliament for that city not having received the expected appointment to a ministerial office, and consequently not requiring a re-election.

SPAIN.

The Insurgent Repulse at Alicante.

MADRID, September 29.--The insurgent frigates Numancia and Mendeze Nunez have left Alicante for Cartagena. The commander of the Numancia admits serious loss of life on his vessel during the bombardment of Alicante, on Saturday. It is generally believed that the failure of the insurgents to capture Alicante will cause the immediate surrender of Cartagena, thus ending the intransigente insurrection.

Berga Reinforced.

MADRID, September 29.--The town of Berga, which at one time was in danger of falling into the hands of the Carlists, has been reinforced and supplied with provisions and ammunition.

The Carlists Demoralized.

The Carlists in the North have recently met with a series of damaging reverses. Discontent and demoralization are spreading in their ranks. It is reported that the famous chief Saballs has been deprived of his command, and that Generals Tristany and Miret have resigned. In the meantime the enthusiasm for the national cause is increasing in the northern provinces.

Casualties in Alicante.

Eight persons were killed in Alicante during the bombardment.

Gambling Suppressed.

The police have closed the gambling houses in Madrid.

WEST INDIES.

A Railway Train Attacked.

HAVANA, September 29.--A railway train, while wooding between San Jose and Juanita, was attacked by a party of insurgents. One officer and two passengers were injured.

A suspicious steamer has been seen off the south coast near Zaza.

Conflicts in Hayti.

SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO, September 29.--Several conflicts have occurred between the inhabitants and soldiery at San German, Aquidilla and Cayeyerillas.

AFRICA.

The Ashantee War.

LONDON, September 29.--The latest news of the progress of the Ashantee war is satisfactory. The natives are in a state of semi-starvation, and it is supposed they are waiting for the end of the rainy season, unable until then to make any movement. An American vessel was discovered in the act of selling them powder, and has been seized by the British commander. A blockade of the coast has been declared to prevent similar occurrences.

CANADA.

Gold Ordered from England.

TORONTO, September 29.--The Government has ordered half a million sterling in gold from England. It has also received information that a million sterling has been shipped for New York and considerable sums for Canadian banks. The feeling in England is confident and hopeful.

YELLOW FEVER.

Shreveport.

SHREVEPORT, LA., September 29.--Within the last four days several of the most prominent and useful citizens of Shreveport have fallen victims to the epidemic. The population is fearfully thinned out by sickness and death. We no longer have funerals. Hearses, followed by one or two carriages, dash through the streets like a section of artillery in battle seeking a position. The coffins are shoved in the hearse and driven rapidly to the cemetery. This is the case even with the most prominent citizens. The Howards have opened an orphan asylum and are feeding about two-thirds of the resident population. There are few deaths and no new cases, because there are fewer people. The physicians appointed a committee last week to investigate the origin of the epidemic. Evidence has already been traced showing beyond question that the fever was imported from Cuba.

The Shreveport Times to-morrow morning will contain the following appeal, which the Howard Association earnestly request the press of the country to publish.

"To our Fellow Citizens:--The yellow fever epidemic that has already swept away more than four hundred of this community is still raging with unabated fury in our midst. We have now at least seven hundred sick, of all ages, sexes, colors and nationalities, all of whom, from the putrid character of the disease, require constant and skillful nursing. In addition to this, there are hundreds of people left without a cent and without employment. Among these are many women and little children. All of them must, for the present, be provided for and fed by the Howard Association, for there is no work to do and no money to be had. The destitution in our midst is as heartrending as the disease, and the deaths are fearful. The drain upon the funds of the Association has thus been enormous, and the liberal aid sent us by our sister cities is nearly exhausted. Under these painful circumstances we are forced to make this general appeal to the country for additional aid. We have people among us suffering, in want and dying from all sections of the Union, and from all nations, and we feel that the great public heart will respond to this appeal, extorted by the most dire necessity. Our own resources are nearly exhausted. The well are broken down, the poor are threatened with actual starvation, and the sick and dying are about to be deprived of the commonest comforts humanity can offer them. We appeal not to our fellow countrymen, but to our fellow men for aid."

Texas.

NEW ORLEANS, September 29.--The Picayune's specials from Brenham and Bryan, Texas, report panics from the apprehension of fever, which has broken out in Calvert. The physicians pronounce it yellow fever. There is an exodus from Calvert and adjacent points. Calvert is quarantined on all sides.

Montgomery.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., September 29.--The Board of Health reports one death from yellow fever, and five new cases within the past forty-eight hours.

Memphis.

This evening a grand banquet took place at the Temple, given by the Grand Chapter of Pennsylvania to the invited guests. The Knights Templar demonstration occurs to-morrow.

Singers' Jubilee in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, September 29.--Cincinnati, Indianapolis, St. Louis, and other German singing societies participated in the opening of the splendid new Liederkranz Hall to-night, a brilliant concert being given on the occasion. An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Jacob, followed by an address from Rev. J. M. Haywood, of the Church of Messiah. An immense concourse of people was in attendance. The German societies visited the exposition.

THE CAPITAL.

WASHINGTON, September 29, 1873.

Cox, pension agent for the District of Columbia, has recently paid four hundred pensions to American citizens residing in England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, France, Prussia, and in many instances to pensioners residing on the islands of the Pacific and Atlantic oceans not belonging to the United States. All these are paid by bill of exchange. The United States is the only Government that pays pensions to citizens who have taken up their abodes in other countries.

Street Rowdyism.

Two roughs, who, while partially drunk, called out to President Grant in a rude and boisterous manner as he was riding to church yesterday with his family, were arrested and taken to the central guard house, and this morning fined by the Police Court five dollars on a charge of loud and boisterous conduct on the street.

OBITUARY.

James Gibbons.

PHILADELPHIA, September 29.--James Gibbons, formerly President of the Fenian Brotherhood, died in this city to-day, aged 75.

Illegal Distilling at Sing Sing.

NEW YORK, September 29.--About three months ago it was noticed that many of the convicts and some of the keepers at Sing Sing in the quarry gang were more or less intoxicated when they went in at night, and many were the devices to catch the supposed smuggler of liquor. On Friday night one of the guard heard a convict talking in his cell, and say: "I've always been a good friend to you; why don't you set up straight?" The guard looked in and saw the convict addressing a pop-bottle, which he then took from him. It had the odor of whisky, and the convict was drunk. When questioned by the Warden he said he bought the whisky from a quarry distillery at one dollar per bottle, under a ledge hidden by some boards. The Warden found John Short, a convict, at work in his distillery. He had an iron kettle boarded over, which he used as a boiler. Some old barrels contained the mash, which was a mass of bread, corn, tomatoes, apples, potatoes and carrots. The still was in full blast, and from a half-inch gas pipe--twisted into a worm--ran a good stream of tolerably fair spirits. John was searched and six hundred dollars was found in his possession. He sold his stuff at one dollar a pop-bottle. The keepers, he said, were good customers, and helped him rig up his establishment, and he had just completed arrangements to supply some neighboring saloons with his products. The still produced an average of five gallons a day.

BETWEEN Lord Chief Justice Cockburn, who has been very severe on the Tichborne claimant, and a man named Bogle, who gives evidence in favor of the claimant, his prospects are said to have materially improved within a few days.

THE American Woman Suffrage Association will hold its Fifth Annual Meeting, and celebrate its Fourth Anniversary in New York and Brooklyn, on Monday and Tuesday, October 13 and 14, beginning with addresses on Monday evening, at Cooper Institute, New York, at 7:30 P. M., holding a business session on Tuesday morning, in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, and continuing its sessions at Plymouth Church Tuesday afternoon and evening.

WE COMPLIMENT the Harrisburg Telegraph on its familiarity with the Constitution, but it is entirely wide of the mark, when it imagines our reference to the urgency of the Southern papers to have the Government assume the debts of Southern States was the outgrowth of some Mississippi complication. We are apt to know what we write about, and referred to precisely what we stated. Our cotemporary attaches as much importance to our brief paragraph, as would an inexperienced journal. We merely referred to the matter at all to point out its ridiculousness. Still, we are obliged to the Telegraph for so clearly showing its utter unconstitutionality.

THE result of the deliberations of the American and British claims commission, provided for by the Treaty of Washington, will be to disgust the people of this country with such affairs, although the money outcome is not such as we need be surprised at. Of claims against our Government amounting to about $300,000,000 only $2,300,000 were allowed. This was not so bad. But the worst feature of the affair was the manner in which the Italian Empire treated the decisions of the United States Supreme Court. These were utterly ignored, and one-third of the award made was to owners of blockade runners. The principles of award that were laid down had this return advantage, that they wiped out, at one stroke, all claims for damage against us on account of Fenian raids into Canada.

THE calculations of Hon. Francis A. Walker, the Superintendent of the Ninth Census, are that our population in 1900 will aggregate about 75,000,000. Incidental to the discussion of the probabilities of the growth of population, is the evidence, Mr. Walker cites, showing how uncertain the calculations of future increase of population may be. For example, Elkanah Watson figured, in 1815, the probable growth of the population for a number of years. For five decades, Mr. Watson's calculations were realized very nearly, but exceptional influences in foreign countries contributed to swell our population by emigration. But for this he would have failed utterly. When 1870 came, his calculation was amiss by some 4,000,000. Hence, Mr. Walker's figures, while interesting, and his discussion, while entertaining, may totally lack verification.

THE PHILADELPHIA Bulletin is authority that the report that Judge Gordon would not be supported by the Republicans of Philadelphia, or that he is not being fairly dealt with by his confere on the State ticket is entirely untrue. We are gratified at this. He is admittedly an excellent man, and every way worthy the position to which he is nominated. There is no good reason why he should be unfairly treated, and we do not believe he will be. That Judge Gordon is a thoroughly competent man, and so perfectly fitted for the position for which he is nominated, that he cannot be excelled, is, we believe, everywhere admitted. Hence, for him to be thrown aside for the Democratic candidate would argue bad faith on the part of Philadelphia, and lead to future complications. We are persuaded, for this, and other reasons, that the Bulletin represents the facts in the case as they really are.

WITH TO-DAY September goes out, and the morrow ushers in October. This has been an exciting month to those who have been within reach of the terrible financial struggle of the past two weeks. To those who, weeks before the panic set in, saw the hand of fate gradually closing upon fortune and prosperity, it has been a terrible month. We might moralize over the lessons furnished. We do it in the language of another: "And so our kindliest feelings are elicited in behalf of those who have suffered, or are to suffer, in the wrecks of fortune that have strewn these last bright days of September. There are widows and orphans and working men and women over whom this woe of Wall street has spread its broad mantle, and who have, almost in the twinkling of an eye, lost their slender hold on future independence. These always have our sympathies in distress; for there is none of the bitterness of envy and emulation to come between us to impair the better feelings of our human nature, and fervently we cry God help them. But for this other class who have suffered, who have tasted lavish wealth with all the ease and luxury and elegance it brings, all of us who have stood aloof, from choice or from circumstance, from the fierce race for the golden meed, must feel the kindest sorrow. The summer cottage was hardly closed, the trunks hardly unpacked, the city mansion aired, or the horses stabled before the unexpected blow was struck, and now on the heels of the fading season come the very effects of the disaster; the curtailing of lavish expenditure, the economizing of straitened means, the twisting and struggling to make both ends meet, the sudden return to labor to secure the means of maintenance, penury and the dead blank of the future. A serious lesson—a financial, a mercantile, a personal, and a moral lesson—might be learned from the sad occurrences of the past few days, but the bare facts are a lesson in themselves that he who has kept out of the enticing vortex of speculative stocks and bonds may read and apply for himself. Of those who have been swallowed up, some will emerge and again sail upon the smooth but treacherous surface; others will never more be yielded up, but will sink, like the once dashing Helmbold, to the level of daily bread humanity, while others, no doubt, contemplating the ruin all around them, and dwelling on the memory of the luxurious past, will console themselves, as did the buoyant statesman of the regime of the third Napoleon, with the philosophic reflection that they had a good time while it lasted."

THE OLD CATHOLICS.

We have written of the Old Catholic movement, and referred, a few days since, to the probability of its rapid growth. Already we have indications that it has taken strong hold on the Catholic mind of Europe, and has received expressions of cordial approval from persons of that faith in this country. The movement is vastly more significant and powerful than has been imagined, and will ere long command the attention of the entire press. It is revolutionary in at least two respects: It utterly ignores the Papacy, and fraternizes with Protestant denominations. It thus abandons, or rather opposes, the exclusiveness of the Papal Church. It assails the Romanist organization from a standpoint entirely different from any assaults ever made before. Luther and his coadjutors claimed to be seeking to purify the Church in which they were priests, and Pere Hyacinthe has also made a similar claim. But the Old Catholics, at the very outset, claimed to be the real Catholic Church, and affirm that the Pope and his adherents are schismatics. This saves them from the charge of having abandoned their faith, and will thus aid them in asserting influence over vast numbers who, while averse to certain pretensions of the Papacy, were not willing to abandon the Church of their childhood and faith. It also has the effect of putting the Papal body on the defensive, and this is a gain. It numbers in its ranks already some of the ablest minds and most popular ministers of the Catholic faith. Bishop Dupanloup is in sympathy but not in perfect identity with the movement. Hyacinthe, Bishop Reinkins, and others that might be named are in active sympathy with it.

When the doctrine of Papal Infallibility was under discussion, the prevalent feeling in this country was against the dogma. Catholics in this country were incredulous of the success of the dogma, and hoped and believed it would not be adopted. They saw the absurdity of declaring, in the nineteenth century, a dogma which, if true, should have been self-evident from the earliest history of the Church. If the official utterances of the Pope, in the interpretation of doctrine and elucidation of truth and direction of Church policy, were infallible, it required no formal declaration of the fact to make it so. Like the attributes of the Deity, this quality was necessarily self-existent; and being so, its developments were infallible, and hence always true and correct. And being this, the subsequent unfoldings of history could only confirm the infallible and unalterable [illegible]ness of the Papal declarations and fulminations. American Catholics have followed Church history closely, the result of our school system and prevailing intelligence being not only to give them a taste for the ordinary developments of learning, but for history as well, and [illegible] Church. If that history [illegible] of their own erroneous theories, doctrines and practices had been entertained for a time and then abandoned, they saw in it only the evidence of human infirmity and weakness of mind. In this view of the case these errors could be referred to the illiteracy of the past. But when the idea of infallibility is assumed to have belonged to all that is past, the subject wears another aspect, and one not agreeable to intelligent minds. Hence the opposition of American Catholics to the doctrine, and their sympathy with the Old Catholic movement.

As a peculiar and novel phase of Church or religious controversy, this movement is deserving of attention. But it is freighted with other than mere polemical interests. It is well known that the German Empire is pronounced in favor of the Old Catholic movement, and will give it all the weight of government influence and prestige. The value of this, as a political influence, is to be considered in the light of Germany's status among the European Powers. This may be safely stated to be that of the leading Power of Europe. It is superior to that of France in the palmiest days of the Second Empire, in that, while it is firmly established at home, it has the prestige of recent and wonderful victories on the field of battle. No nation in Europe would care to try conclusions in battle against the Germans. Add to this that in Bismarck she has the ablest diplomatic mind in Europe. Von Beust, in Austria, and Gortchakoff, in Russia, are men of great ability, but the latter is feeling the weight of age, and the former feels the weight of his country's unfortunate history. Bismarck has all the courage inspired by success, the influence which courage and success give, and, more than else, the keenness and strength and scope of intellect necessary to meet the emergencies of such a comprehensive and involved struggle as this Old Catholic controversy presents. And the whole weight of his influence, energy and ability is given unreservedly in behalf af the Old Catholics.

That the King of Italy sympathizes with the views of the German Government, is entirely probable. He has given fruition to the desire so long, and so passionately indulged by the Italians of seeing Rome the capital of United Italy. While careful to recognize and respect the spiritual supremacy of the Pope, he has been the recipient of unmeasured hostility from the Holy Father. That he should sympathize with a movement that will gratify his political wishes, and realize, at the same time, his desires as to the place the Church shall occupy in the State is not at all surprising. Switzerland has been the home of the Old Catholic movement, and the Catholics of Switzerland have fully testified their sympathy with it. Austria has been in such close diplomatic conferences with Victor Emmanuel and the German potentates, that her sympathies are declared to be in unison with theirs. We do not know, however, that this is true. France, if a monarchy is established, will probably be against the Old Catholics. Spain, if the Republic lives, will be for, rather than against, them. Hence, we see, that with logic and the governments on their side, they are likely to be a formidable power soon.

THE people of Lexington, Mass., are resolved to sustain its historic record by filling the remaining niches in their Memorial Hall with statues of two of the distinguished statesmen of the Revolution. Their hall is an octagon, and has four niches for statues, facing each other. Two of them are filled with life-size marble statues of soldiers—one of the Revolution and one of the late war. They now design to fill the remaining niches with statues of Samuel Adams and John Hancock, so that the civil and military may combine, and that equal honors may be paid to those who guided our councils and those who labored in the field.

JAMES PARTON was one of the speakers at the Salisbury (Mass.) picnic. He declared emphatically in favor of peanuts, saying that: "Whether you regard the peanut as a mitigator of sea-side hunger while you are waiting for the clams to be done—and it takes a long time for them to be done when a large party are waiting for them—or whether you consider them in the light of promoters of friendship and conversation, they are equally admirable." He also testified to his belief in open-air eating, saying that, while Cæsarism and the Heathen Chinee had no terrors for him, he had fears for the health of the next generation.

THE good people of Worcester, Mass., are requested by the Lecture Committee to appear "on Wilkie Collins' nights in full dress." It is the most natural request in the world to make, for nothing would be more painful to the feelings of the people of Worcester than to shock the modesty of Wilkie Collins.

OF the 956 cotton manufactories in the United States, 191 are in Massachusetts, 139 in Rhode Island, 138 in Pennsylvania, 111 in Connecticut, and 81 in New York, aggregating 667, or more than two-thirds of the whole. THE resident population of the United Kingdom in the middle of 1873 is estimated at 32,131,488, that of England and Wales amounting to 23,356,414, of Scotland to 3,430,923, and of Ireland to 5,344,151. FRANCIS W. WORTH, Receiver of the Market Savings Bank, of Philadelphia, went to Europe in the spring with his family, and left them in Switzerland. He was taken down with cholera, and had partially recovered when he embarked at Havre, on the 11th instant. On the sixth day out his disease returned, and after an illness of twenty-three hours he died, and was buried at sea.

IT has been demonstrated that a beetle is capable of lifting 315 times its own weight. A man of ordinary muscular power is fully one hundred times feebler, and had an elephant such comparative strength it could run away with a load of 5,000,000 pounds. The flea, too, scarcely three-hundredths of an inch in height, manages to leap without difficulty over a barrier fully 500 times its own altitude. For a man, six feet is an unusually high leap. Imagine him jumping three thousand feet, or nearly three-fifths of a mile.

A DARING and extensive plot to rob the Exposition at Indianapolis, Indiana, of diamonds and other valuables, has been discovered. It was arranged that experienced burglars should be placed near the cases containing an immense amount of diamonds, jewelry, and silverware, while confederates should cut the gas-pipe which supplies the Exposition, and which runs through an open common. In the darkness and confusion the raid was to be made, the cases smashed, and the valuables secured. The guards have been strengthened, calcium lights provided, and all precautions taken to frustrate their design.

THE California State Board of Equalization has fixed the rate of taxation for State purposes for this year, at 50 cents on the $100 of assessed value, so that San Francisco, having $206,000,000 on her roll, will have to come down $1,030,000 for her share. This is for State purposes alone. The city tax will be three times as much, and the amount paid in duties and internal revenue taxes about $9,000,000, making a total of $13,000,000 of taxes to be collected in San Francisco next year. Of the duties on imports, about $5,000,000 are repaid to our citizens by the people of the coast outside of this city, leaving $8,000,000 to be paid by 27,000 voters, or about $300 annually of tax to every voter, on the average.—San Francisco Alta.

IN the year 1785 the captain of a Greenland [illegible] vessel found himself at night [illegible] morning, expecting every moment [illegible] ground to pieces. In the morning he looked about and saw a ship near by. He hailed it, but received no answer. Getting into a boat with some of his crew he pushed out for the mysterious craft. Coming alongside the vessel he saw through the port-hole a man at a table, as though keeping a log-book, frozen to death. The last date in the book was 1762, showing that the vessel for thirteen years had been drifting among the ice. The sailors were found, some frozen in their hammocks and others in the cabin. For thirteen years the ship has been carrying its burden of corpses—a drifting sepulchre manned by a frozen crew.

THE babies of Germany are not allowed as large liberty as those of America. They are for the better part of the first year of their early pilgrimage tightly wound up in swaddling clothes, with both arms and legs pinioned, and carried about on a pillow especially made for the purpose. After they escape from their wrappings a bag of feathers is tied on their backs, so that when they tumble over they have something to fall upon. Those of the poorer classes are laid in a basket with a little bag of sugar in their mouths, and are expected to behave themselves without much further attention from mother or nurse. The nurses on the streets generally carry the babies in their arms on a pillow, and they are tied to it with pink ribbons, lying as still and as motionless as if they were little mummies. They cannot kick or use their arms, and evidently are not allowed to know during their puling days what their legs and arms are intended for. We don't think that our babies would stand it, and we observe that German ladies, when they come to America, don't attempt to practice any such tyranny on their babies.

MR. REYNOLD'S REWARD.

A Danbury Boy's Kite in an Apple Tree.

A New York party, named Reynolds, who has been spending the Summer here, was at the upper end of Deerhill avenue, strolling for his health, yesterday morning, when he observed a boy trying to pull a kite from an apple tree, where it had lodged. As Mr. Reynolds came up, the string broke, leaving the kite up there. With the natural promptings of the human heart, the gentleman gave his coat in charge of the boy, and, crawling over the fence, was soon up the tree. The boy felt pretty bad about the accident to his kite, but, on taking a second look at the coat, which was almost new, he dried his tears, and ran off with it, unperceived by Mr. Reynolds, who was trying to take an obstinate twig from the back of his neck. After considerable difficulty he reached the kite, and was stretching forth his hand to take it in when the limb he was on suddenly snapped in two, and he fell some six feet, splitting one of his pantaloon legs half way up, and running a twig into his nose with such violence as to make that organ bleed. Fortunately he was saved from further mishaps by catching on a strong limb. He stopped then to feel his nose and meditate on the accident, when a rough voice from below demanded what he was a doing there, and looking down, he saw a shirt-sleeved bald headed man, with a pitch-fork in his hand and fire in his eye. Mr. Reynolds explained about the kite. "That won't do," said the man. "I've had too many apples hooked from that ere tree, and now that I've got the thief, I intend to make him dance." And the man looked ferociously at Reynolds' facilities for dancing. The unhappy Reynolds referred him to the boy for an endorsement of his story. "What boy?" asked the owner of the orchard. "I don't see no boy. There ain't no boy here." Reynolds looked out in the road, but there was no boy in sight. He shouted "Bub" two or three times, but there was no response. The color deserted his face and a look of mingled astonishment and horror spread over his features. "This is very extraordinary," he said. "Very," coincided the farmer with great dryness. "That boy has stolen my coat, and I must pursue him and recover it," said Reynolds, suddenly becoming frantic over his loss, and preparing to descend. "O, come down and catch him," said the farmer with biting sarcasm, chewing his tongue to show how calm he was, and placing the fork in such a way as to take in the most valuable portion of Mr. Reynold's body. That gentleman saw the preparations in time to stop. "Why, you wouldn't run that fork into me, you old idiot?" "Who are you calling an old idiot, you miserable whipper-snapper?" shouted the old shap, as he instantly danced around the foot of the tree, and glared fiercely at his victim. "Come here and rob me, you villain, will you, and then stand in my own tree an' blaspheme me. Run the fork in you, will I? Yes, I'd run it into two hundred of ye." Mr. Reynolds was shocked. "What do you want me to do?" he said, desparing of reasoning with the owner of the orchard. "I want you to pay me five dollars and get out of this orchard as fast as your rascally legs can take you." Mr. Reynolds hesitated. It was bad enough to lose his coat, ruin his pants, and split his nose, to help an evil boy out of trouble, without being bombarded with epithets and being charged five dollars for the performance. He thought he would jump down on the old man and crush him, but he looked at the fork and repented of the design. Then he pulled out a five-dollar bill and dropped it to his enemy, and humiliatingly slid down the tree, reaching his feet just in time to avoid a kick the irate old man aimed at him. He was helped out of the orchard with the fork handle, and immediately started for the hotel, which he reached in a condition of nervous prostration that at first threatened to result seriously. An active search has been made for the boy, but neither he nor the coat has been discovered.—Danbury News.

HON. GEO. W. JULIAN has abandoned the cause of Woman's Rights. He is probably on the eve of matrimony.

THOMAS B. DE WALDEN, an actor and dramatic author, was buried on Sunday in Greenwood, New York. His funeral was attended by a large number of members of the theatrical profession.

GOV. HARTRANFT has appointed Francis Wells, of the Evening Bulletin, of Philadelphia, Commissioner of Public Charities, to fill the vacancy caused by the decease of Dr. Wilmer Worthington.

J. A. P. Allen, Collector of the port of New Bedford, Mass., and Captain Thurston Macomber, of Fair Haven, commander of the bark Osprey, have been summoned to England to testify in the Tichborne case.

ONE of the daughters of Eng, an own brother of Chang, and the two composing the Siamese twins, was recently married to a deaf mute in North Carolina. The bride is also deaf and dumb. Here's a chance for Darwin.

JIMMIE RIVERS, a circus clown, has been sent to the Arkansas Penitentiary for one year, having been convicted of grand larceny. Rivers pleaded, with streaming eyes, that the demoralizing influence of his stage training in the larceny line had misled him.

AN immediate contrast in the English Probate Office: John Stuart, philosopher, died worth £14,000; Benjamin Grigsby, potato merchant, of Shoreditch, died worth £320,000. The philosopher was, perhaps surprised at having so much to leave; the potato man probably regretted having so little.

THE following are the ages of the members of the firm of Jay Cooke & Co.:—Jay Cooke is about fifty-two; William G. Moorhead, fifty-eight; Henry D. Cooke, forty-five; H. C. Fahnestock, forty-three. Geo. C. Thomas, forty; Pitt Cooke, forty-two; Say Cooke, Jr., twenty-six; J. A. Gartland, twenty-eight.

MR. FREDERICK JACKSON, who owns a slaughter-house, and occasionally officiates in the pulpit, was summoned the other day, in London, for sending meat unfit for use to the Metropolitan meat market. On trial it appeared that a pig belonging to the defendant, which had been killed to prevent its dying of lung disease, had been afterwards sent up to the meat market for sale. Mr. Jackson was fined £5 with costs.

LAST spring the versatile Henry Ward Beecher delivered a lecture throughout the interior at one thousand dollars a night, on money making as the great engine of civilization and the modern means of grace. Since the panic he has preached a sermon on "Haste to Get Rich," citing various edifying passages of Scripture against it, and arguing that it perverts the morals, and, indeed defeats the purpose to get rich.

PRESIDENT GRANT took particular notice of the little children at various stopping places along the route of his recent excursion, and to those presented to him he spoke a kind word. At one place, while he was holding two little girls by the hand, one whispered to the other, "You don't dare to do what you said you would." He instantly surmised what that daring act could be. and so, bending down, he kissed them both.

MRS. ELLEN SHEELY was among the bidders in St. Louis last week for grading five streets. The Republican of that city says: "All the bids were very judicious and evinced a knowledge of the business not inferior to the oldest of the contractors, and the contracts were only lost by a few cents. Mrs. Sheely, as administratrix to her husband's estate, completed an extensive piece of grading last fall, for which he was contractor, in the western part of the city, and is therefore not without experience in the business."

MR. DAVID PRESTON, of Detroit, has succeeded in raising $60,000 for Albion College, to secure an additional gift, contingently promised, of $50,000. One of the Michigan papers says that he set the example by heading the list with a magnificent donation, and then had all the members of his family give. He talked, gave and prayed. Scarcely a family in the State but heard his appeal. He had till the 15th of September to raise the amount. On the 9th of September there was still $6,000 to be raised. He did not despair, but worked, and on the 14th he raised the last dollar.

THE Grand Lodge of the United States of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, in session in Baltimore recently, was a very intelligent body of men. MADAME DAVENPORT'S

HAIR RESTORATIVE, for cleansing, beautifying and promoting the growth of the hair. A sure and permanent cure for baldness, prepared from the original receipt as obtained from Madame Davenport from an eminent physician of the U. S. Navy, who had used it in his practice for over forty years, and never found it to fail.

MRS. S. A. Wanner & Co.'s Sepis, a Water Color for the Hair. Ladies and gentlemen are alike interested in this article, for they are all interested in their personal appearance and adornment. Beauty will fade—the hair will turn gray—and we sometimes find ourselves approaching the "sere and yellow leaf" early in life. There is a dread of becoming old that cannot be overcome. Sold only in Pittsburgh, at

Browne's Drug Store
Cor. Penn and Sixth (old St. Clair) streets.

THE OLD CANOE.

Where the rocks are gray and the shore is steep,
And the waters below look dark and deep,
Where the rugged pine, in its lonely pride,
Leans gloomily over the murky tide,
Where the reeds and rushes are long and rank,
And the weeds grow thick on the winding bank;
Where the shadow is heavy the whole day through—
There lies at its moorings the old canoe.

The useless paddles are idly dropped,
Like a seabird's wings that the storm has lopped,
And crossed on the railing, one o'er one,
Like the folded hands when the work is done;
While busily back and forth between
The spider stretches his silvery screen,
And the solemn owl, with his dull "too-hoo,"
Settles down on the sides of the old canoe.

The stern half sunk in the slimy wave,
Rots slowly away in its living grave,
And the green moss creeps o'er its dull decay,
Hiding its mouldering dust away,
Like the hand that plants o'er the tomb a flower,
Or the ivy that mantles the falling tower;
While many a blossom of liveliest hue
Springs up o'er the stern of the old canoe.

The currentless waters are dead and still—
But the light wind plays with boat at will,
And lazily in and out again
It floats the length of the rusty chain,
Like the weary march of the hands of time,
That meet and part at the moontide chime;
And the shore is kissed at each turn anew,
By the dripping bow of the old canoe.

Oh, many a time, with careless hand
I have pushed it away from the pebbly strand,
And paddled it down where the stream runs quick,
Where the whirls are wild and the eddies are thick,
And laughed as I leaned o'er the rocking side,
And looked below in the broken tide,
To see that the faces and the boats were two
That were mirrored back from the old canoe.

But now, as I lean o'er the crumbling side,
And look below in the sluggish tide,
The face that I see there is graver grown
And the laugh that I hear has a soberer tone,
And the hands that lent to the light skiff wings
Have grown familiar with sterner things;
But I love to think of the hour that sped,
As I rock where the whirls their white sprays shed,
Ere the blossom waved or the green grass grew
O'er the mouldering stern of the old canoe.

RUPTURE.

There are hundreds of people ruptured who don't know what ails them; there are others who don't know what to do for it, nor where to seek for relief or a cure; others again who have had rupture for years, under the false notion that there can be no danger in the future, as there has been none in the past. This is a fatal delusion, and there is no knowing what day the rupture may become strangulated, and call for a painful and dangerous surgical operation. To avoid so fearful a result, make application to some competent person to have a truss applied. Will a truss cure me, you may ask. Very often it will, but it will always retain the parts so as to make you secure and safe from danger, and at a cost so trifling as to be hardly worth mentioning when compared with the enormous risk you run in letting it alone. Dr. Keyser, at his office, 167 Liberty street, is provided with every appliance suitable to the retention and cure of this terrible evil. He has trusses at a price as low as can be obtained anywhere in the country, and in every variety and quality—of such vast variety, that the most difficult and long standing cases, of years duration, are made manageable and brought within the province of cure. Let no one deceive themselves into the belief that rupture is never curable; but worst than all, let none consent to "let alone" cure.

FINANCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, Sept. 30, 1873.

Our telegraphic dispatches continue to keep our readers informed concerning the financial situation in the principal money centres. In this city, as elsewhere, the prevailing tendency is toward a better condition, confidence having been restored in a great measure through the wise policy pursued by the banks and business men generally. At a full meeting of the Clearing House Association yesterday morning, to consult on the present monetary situation, it was resolved, in view of the brightening prospects, that no change was required in the manner of conducting the business of the banks and Clearing House.

NEW YORK, September 29, 1873.

The situation is improving, and the bank officers state that so far as this city is concerned the present danger is passed. Money remains unquotable. Loans in gold were made at flat to ½ per cent. for use at the opening, and the close loans were made free of interest to either borrower or lender. The gold market was influenced by the order of the Treasury to prepay the November interest and further remittances of coin from London to New York. The price declined from 113⅛ to 111¾, recovered to 112⅝, and closed at 112⅜. The prepayment of November interest at the Treasury to-day only amounted to $500. There are $187,500,000 of 6 per cents, interest on which is due in November, held abroad, and interest on this amount to $5,625,000 which will not be collected even under the most favorable circumstances before the 15th of November. The interest on registered new fives amounts to $4,000,000, and this cannot be paid before the 15th prox., because the books do not close until then. It is possible parties abroad may cut off the coupons from the 6 per cent. immediately, but even then they would not reach here under ten days. The books for registered 6 per cents. do not close until the first prox., and the small clerical force at Washington will not be able to write them up before the last of next week, so that when payment of registered interest is made it will not be before the 15th of October. Clearances, $33,842,000. Foreign exchange was generally quiet and for actual business was quoted at 104⅛@105, for prime bankers' sixty days' sterling, and 105½@106, for sight. Commercial bills sold all the way from 101 to 103¼. The Assistant Treasurer paid out to-day $50,000 on account of interest and in redemption of 5-20 bonds. The earnings of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Minneapolis railroad for the third week in September, 1873, were $34,103, against $28,856 same time in 1872; increase $5,247.

In early street dealings in stocks a weak feeling predominated, but a firmer tone soon set in, and continued throughout the day. Dividend paying shares were in good demand and in small supply at improving prices at the close. The largest business and greatest improvement was in N. York Central, Lake Shore Rock Island and Harlem, although Western Union, Pacific Mail, Wabash and low-priced stocks generally participated freely in the improvement. Stocks were strong at the final close at following quotations: New York Central and Hudson, 92 bid, 93 asked; Erie, 51 bid, 52 asked; Lake Shore, 75 bid, 76 asked; Northwestern, 43 bid, 44 asked; do. preferred, 61½ bid, 68 asked; Rock Island, 91½ bid; Pacific Mail, 34¼ bid, 35 asked; St. Paul, 34¼ bid, 35 asked; Ohios, 30 bid, 31 asked; Western Union Telegraph, 68 bid, 69 asked; Wabash, 44½ bid, 45½ asked; Union Pacific, 20 bid, 21 asked; C. C. & I. C., 22½ bid, 23 asked; Harlem, 111 bid.

LONDON, September 29—5 P. M.—The rate of discount in open market for three months' bills is 5 per cent., which is the same as the Bank of England rate. Consols, 92⅜; 5-20's of '65, 94¾; do. of '67, 94⅜; 10-40s, 90¼; new 5s 90⅜; Erie, 42⅝.

FRANKFORT, September 29.—U. S. bonds: 5-20s of '62, 95¾.

PARIS, September 29.—Rentes 65f 35c.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 29, 1873.

ALE—There is a moderate demand, and prices are firmer but unchanged; X at $9 ℔ brl. to the country, and $8 to the city; XX, $10; India, $11. Half brls. in proportion.

ASHES—There is but little inquiry for anything in this line, in consequence of the window glass factories not having started up, and prices remain nominally unchanged.

BUTTER—The arrivals, particularly of common and medium, are increasing, but of strictly prime, the demand is still fully up to the supply and prices are fully sustained; may be fairly quoted at 10@20 for inferior to fair solid packed; 25@33 for prime to choice; and prime to choice roll, 28@30, with some few sales of fancy at 31@32. Prime butter is said to be worth more here than in the east.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 30@35 cents.

BAGGING—Penn Mill two bushel bags, 35c; two and one-half bushel, 42; three bushel, 50.

BROOMS—Following are the factory prices: No. 2, $2 per dozen; No. 3, $2.50. No. 4, $3. No. 5, $3.25. No. 6, $3.50. Carpet Brooms, $4. Toy Brooms and Whisps, $1.50@2. In a jobbing way, from store, 25 to 37½c per dozen additional.

BROOM CORN—There is a fair business although the inquiry is mainly for small lots, while prices are without quotable change. We continue to quote choice hurl at 10; good to prime, 8@9; red and red topped, 5¼@6¼.

BEANS—The demand continues limited as is also the supply, and prices remain about as last quoted, ranging from $2.50@3 ℔ bushel. There are very few navies in market as yet.

CARBON OIL—The demand is light being almost wholly local, while prices are unchanged; 13½c by the car load, and 1@2c additional for smaller lots.

CHEESE—The arrivals of Ohio Factory were liberal during the past week, but with a steady demand there has been no accumulation, and prices if anything, are even firmer; we now quote August make at 13¼@13½ to the trade, and 14½ in a jobbing way. Prime New York Goshen, 14½@15; there is a good deal of the latter sold in this market as such, although it is made in Ohio. Prime to choice Sweitzer, 17@18.

CANNED GOODS—The market, as is always the case at this season of the year, is quiet; our wholesale dealers have been contracting pretty freely, but it is too early for the jobbing trade to open up. As noted in our last report prices are firm, and as compared with this time last year, considerably higher.

COKE—Is in steady demand, but prices are lower; we reduce our quotations to $3.50@3.75 ℔ ton, delivered free on cars at ovens

COAL—Broken egg and stove, Wilkesbarre, Anthracite Coal, $7 ℔ ton, by the car load; Nut Anthracite, $6.50.

CEMENT & LIME—Louisville Cement, $2.00@2.25 per barrel. Youghiogheny, $1.75@2. Rosendale, $2.50@3.75. Portland, $6@8.50. Plaster Calcined—Mills & Co's, $3.25@3.50. Eastern $3.25@4. Michigan, $2.50. Lime—Cleveland Tremont, Perrysburg, $1.75@2; Eastern, $1.60@1.75. Land Plaster, 3.50@3.75.

COPPER—Following are the card rates, cash, as reported by Park & Co.: Braziers' Copper, 18 ℔ sheets and upward, 40c; Braziers' Copper, 10, 11 and 12 ℔ sheets, 40c; Braziers' Copper, 9 ℔ and less, 42c. Circles under 84 in. diameter, 43c. Circles, 84 in diameter and over, 46c. Segment and Pattern Sheets, 43c; Sheathing Copper, 14 in. by 48 in., 38c. Bolt Copper, 40c. Locomotive Fire Box Plates, 49c.

COTTON, SHEETING and YARNS.—Penn Mill A. No. 1 4-4 Sheeting, 12c. Nonatook, 11c; Pittsburgh Family, 11c. Juniata, B. fine, 10½c; White Carpet Chain fine, 36c Colored, 43c. Cotton Batting, 18; Cotton Twine, 36.

CORDAGE & ROPE—Manila rope, ¾ inch in diameter and upwards, 18 cents, ½, 18½c; ⅜, and 5-16, 19c tarred rope and lath yarn, 17½c and hay and leather twine, 18¼. Sisal rope—¾ and 5-16 inch diameter 16c. ½, 16½; ⅜ is and upwards, 17; hay and spoke twine, 16¼. Oil well drilling cables—hawser laid, 18½c do. bolt rope and yarn, 19½c; Sand pump rope, 18.

CRACKERS—Arrow root, 12½c; Boston, 7c. butter, 7c; cream, 22c; continental 18c; fruit 12½c; ginger 12½c; imperials 18c; London nic nacs, 18c; novelties 15c; oyster 7c; scotch 12½c; pic nics, 7c; soda 7c water 7c; N. Y. water 7c; wine, 9½c ℔ lb.

EGGS—The arrivals during the past week, although not large, have been just about sufficient to keep up to the supply, hence there has been little or no change in prices, which we continue to quote at 24@25. Some dealers report trade as being a little slow, while others state that they have no difficulty in disposing of all they can get at quotations.

FIRE BRICK—West Virginia, $18 to $20. Boliver grades, $35. Star, $35. Woodland, $35. Mount Savage, $65.

FLOUR—The flour trade is considerably depressed both east and west in consequence of the monetary troubles, and as compared with this time last week, there has been considerable of a decline in some of the leading markets. Unless exchanges begin to work more easily, it will continue in its present condition, as there is not currency enough in actual circulation to move it, and the result will be lower prices still; exporters are reported as having difficulty in selling foreign exchange, and this, together with a scarcity of ocean tonnage, will cause a falling off in our exports. In our own market spring wheat flour have dropped about 25 cts. per brl., and we now quote at $7.25@7.50, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas: red winter wheat $7.75@8.25; fancy St. Louis white wheat, $10@10.50. Rye flour $5.25@5.50.

FRUITS—The arrivals of Apples during the week have been light, and of choice fruit, the supply was scarcely equal to the demand, prices, consequently are fully sustained, $3@3.50 ℔ brl. for fair to good, and $4@4.50 for prime to choice. It is but proper to state that these prices could not be realized if there was anything like a supply. Peaches in very light supply and about over for this season; sales at $3@4 ℔ box for fair to choice in good condition. Grapes selling at 5@7c ℔ lb. according to quality. The melon trade is very dull, and dealers are taking almost any price they can get.

GRAIN—The receipts of all kinds of Grain continue meagre, as the inquiry is mainly restricted to small lots for immediate wants, and but for the very limited stocks prices would decline in sympathy with the west. The market for Wheat is dull, so far at least as Pittsburgh is concerned, and since the date of our last weekly report, notwithstanding the receipts were meagre, prices have declined from 5 to 7c ℔ bushel; we now quote red at $1.47@1.50, amber, $1.53@1.55, and white at $1.58@1.60. There is little or no call from the country, and the city mills are reported as being pretty well supplied hence, as already stated, the demand is comparatively light. The Oat market is still reported firm, although the inquiry is wholly to supply immediate wants, and prices, as compared with the date of our last report, have undergone no quotable change; sales of prime white reported at 47@48. Corn, both shelled and ear, continues in light supply, and notwithstanding the inquiry is light, prices are fully sustained, 64@65. There is more inquiry for ear than shelled, and it is very scarce in this market. Rye is quiet, with but little offering and not much wanted; we continue to quote at 85@90. Barley continues very irregular, and the market is so unsettled, that it is very difficult to give quotations. No. 2 spring was lower in Chicago, having sold down to $1@1.05, but it is again on the upward track. Some of our Pittsburgh brewers, we understand, are in Chicago with money in their pockets, and were thus enabled to take advantage of the decline.

COFFEE—Choice Rio, 27½@28; good to prime 25½@26½c; fair, 24@25c. Roasted one lb. packages, 31c; loose, 30½.

HAY—The arrivals of baled have been quite liberal during the past week; and as stocks have commenced to accumulate again, the market is weaker, and prices are a shade lower: we now quote at $20@25 ℔ ton, according to quality. Loose is selling from country wagons at $20@28 ℔ ton.

SALT—Is quoted at $1.60 ℔ brl. by the car load, and $1.85 in a jobbing way.

SEEDS—There is little or nothing doing in either Timothy or Clover Seed, scarcely enough doing to establish quotations; we hear of some small sales of Timothy at $3.60@3.65 ℔ bushel. Flax Seed is scarce, and crushers are still paying $1.90.

TALLOW—Quoted at 7¾@8c ℔ lb.

ONIONS—There is a steady jobbing demand, but no change in prices; $4@5 per barrel.

WHITE LEAD—Trade is fair for this season of the year, although, as might be expected, not as brisk as it has been, but there is no change whatever in prices. We continue to quote strictly pure in 100 keg lots, at 12 cents and 12½c in a jobbing way. In tin packages, ½ to 1c ℔ lb. additional.

WHISKY—The market for Highwines, like everything else, has been affected by the money panic, and prices are weak and lower; we reduce our quotations to 94@95c ℔ gallon.

WOODEN WARE—Two hoop Pails, $2.55; three hoop do, $2.60. No. 1 three hoop tubs, $10.50. No. 2, two hoop Tubs, $9.00. No. 3, two hoop tubs, $8.00. Plain Wash boards, per dozen, $2.50 Crimp, $2.75; X L, 2.50.

WOOL—The financial disturbance, as might be expected, operates against the wool trade; business has been brought almost to a stand, and will continue so until confidence has been restored, and money begins to work easier. From all that we can learn the great bulk of the clip in this section of the country has been picked up, and prior to the panic, the market under the influence of advices from the east, was tightening up rapidly; producers who had disposed of their product had commenced to think that they had done so too soon, while on the other hand, those who held on had begun to congratulate themselves on their great foresight as "they knew that prices were destined to rule higher." At present, however, the situation is decidedly changed, and the outlook is not so favorable for the latter, although the market may stiffen up again as soon as confidence has been restored, and it is possible that prices may be sustained; for the time being, however, trade is almost at a stand all over the country, and the future, to say the least, is very uncertain. It is difficult to give quotations in the present state of affairs, although, choice fellip of fine can not be fairly quoted above 44@45c. Our Boston dispatch under date of 27th quoted at 50@58, the outside figure for choice XXX.

WINDOW GLASS—Trade is quiet, although about all that can be expected under existing circumstances and surroundings. The stringency in money matters, as might be expected, has curtailed the demand somewhat, as manufacturers, as a general thing, are not disposed to sell unless to cash buyers; and they want currency not drafts in payment; the result is that orders have slacked off, and we do not look for any material improvement until money matters become easier. Stocks of ordinary sizes, notwithstanding the factories have not started up, are fully ample for the present, while orders for irregular sizes are difficult to fill, as these are generally made to order. We were assured by a firm within the last day or two that they had 12,000 boxes on hand. Manufacturers still have 12,000 boxes on hand, are congratulating themselves that the panic could not have come at a better time so far as they are concerned, as their factories are idle, so that they are under but comparatively little expense, while at the same time they are still able to fill all their orders, except, as already stated, for irregular sizes. We continue to quote discounts at 60 & 5 to 60 & 10 ℔ cent.

In addition to the 35 cars of western cattle above recorded, there were fully 500 driven in from Butler, Washington, Green Cos. and West Va., swelling the whole number on sale up to about 1,100 head, between 300 and 400 in excess of the supply this day week. The quality, as a general thing, was very common; with the exception of the 12 cars from Chicago and a few cars from Ohio, the offerings ranged from inferior to medium, prime cattle, more so than usual were the exception, not the general rule. The market, except for strictly choice stock, opened hard, and dragged all the way through, and at the close there were quite a large number unsold: one firm, Sadler, Havens & Co. had 3 cars, which they did not put in the sale pens at all; we are cognizant of a dealer from an adjoining county, who did not sell a single bullock, drove them all out, and will hold over until there is a better market. With the exception referred to, the market was generally regarded as being the worst of the season, and even the very best butcher cattle, notwithstanding the very limited supply, dropped from 10 to 15c ℔ cwt, while on inferior and common stock the decline was from 25 to 35c ℔ cwt. Butchers were more than usually bearish, claiming that the money panic has not been without its effect in curtailing the consumption of beef; that this, together with the hot weather, has caused hard meat markets, consequently they did not seem to want as many cattle as usual, and this, taken in connection with an oversupply, enabled them to buy all they wanted and without any difficulty at the decline above named. That the market was a hard one for the selling interest is evident from the fact that notwithstanding holders were all anxious to realize and with good reason, too, as there was no inducement to hold over, there were quite a number left over unsold.

There were some few extra butcher cattle sold at from 6¼ to 6⅜, against 6¾@6⅞ for same time last week; good to prime brought from 5⅜@5⅝; we are cognizant of some very fine steers, smooth and fat, having been sold within the range of the last named figures. Many of the butchers succeeded in getting all they wanted at from 5@5¼, while others did not pay over 4½. Most of the stock from the adjoining country sold within the range of 3½@4¼—they were mostly heifers and steers, and weighed from 700 to 1,000 lbs. Old cows and rough stags 2½@3.

We are informed by many of the drovers today that they do not intend going out for stock this week; the reason they assign, therefor, is that producers, as a rule, will accept nothing but currency in pay, and, as is well known, greenbacks in circulation are becoming scarce and hard to get. Some of those who bought in Chicago last week, will have to send currency by express to pay therefor, as the banks refused to take drafts, hence there was no other alternative. The stock business, like every thing else, is in bad condition just now, in consequence of the money panic, but we are in hopes it will be of short duration.

S. Marks & Bro. reported 40 head from Chicago and 36 from Ohio, good to extra, at 5½@6⅜.

M. Varner reported 45 head of mixed stock, from West Va, at 4½@5⅜.

Sol Trautman reported 38 head fair to prime, from Indiana and Chicago, at 5@6.

Louis Gerson reported 22 head of Green Co. stock, averaging from 700 to 1,000 lb. at 3½@4½.

J. W. Cunningham has 16 cattle on sale, but being unwilling to accept the prices, he took them back to the country.

Davis and Rash reported 50 head commonish Green Co. stock at 3@4¼.

Orr & Williams reported 22 head of fair to good Belmont Co, Ohio steers at 3½@5¼.

Nicholas Carr reported 20 slippery Washington Co. stock, averaging 600 to 800 lbs, at 3½@4.50.

M. Flinner wholesaled 15 Butler Co steers and heifers averaging 900@925 lbs at $37 per head.

Peter Sheitmantle retailed 30 head of mixed Butler Co stock at 3@4c per lb.

M. Kauffman reported one car common Ohio cows and heifers at 3@4c.

L. Keefer & Co., reported 26 prime to extra butcher steers from Chicago, weighing 1,200@1,400 lbs at 6@6¼.

Jacob Shamberg sold 20 head good Washington Co. stock at 3½@4¼c.

Pittsburgh Commission Co. sold for Jos. Myers 5¼c; 17 from Butler Co. Durhams for James B. Shannon at 3½@4¼.

Lowenstein & Arnold reported 18 head of Butler Co. steers at 3@4½.

Geo. F. Carter retailed 9 head mixed Grasshoppers, 2½@3¼.

Elias Conger retailed 10 head Green Co steers at 4@4¼.

Smith and Kraus reported 29 head of mixed Ohio stock at 4½@6c.

Rothchilds and Haas reported 60 head of fair to prime Butler Co. stock at 4½@5¼.

Wm. Reis reported 16 head of mixed Ohio stock at 4½@5¼.

Keefner and Metz reported 38 from Washington and Green counties at 4½@5¼.

Greenwald and Kahn reported 68 head of Chicago butcher stock at 4½@6⅜.

Holmes, Lafferty and Co., reported 101 head of mixed stock, mainly from Ohio and Indiana, at 3½@6.

James Hanlin reported 20 head of fair to good Washington co. stock at 3½@4¼.

Sadier, Havens and Co. reported 4 cars of common slippery Ohio stock at 3½@4¼. 3 cars left over unsold.

Sol. Lowenthal reported 16 head Butler co. heifers and steers at 3½ cts.

Wm. Moonshine sold 41 head of Chicago cattle at 5⅜@6¼; 31 head from West Virginia at 3.70@4.50.

Isaac Zeigler reported 20 head of fair to prime butcher cattle at 4¼@6¼.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The whole number on sale to-day was about 1,500, or some 500 less than this day week; notwithstanding the comparatively light supply, the market was very dull, it opened slow, except for prime to extra, all of which were picked up early in the day, dragged all the way through, and at the close there were still a large number remaining unsold. Prices, if anything, ruled lower on the common and medium grades, while prime fat sheep, in consequence of the very limited supply, brought last week's prices, say 5⅜@5⅝ cts. per lb. Lambs sold all the way from 5@6 per cwt.

The stock on sale was owned as follows: John Reeler, 100; Jacob Keifer, 171; Adam Eckert, 150, Mart Humes, 133; M. Flinner, 64; James Shaw, 168; J. W. Cunningham, 80; Geo. Emerick, 90; which were sold; J. W. Stewart, 145; John F. Neeley, 85; Geo. F. Carter, 60; total 1,476.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, September 29, 1873.

Trade continues very quiet and the market is devoid of anything particularly new or important. Crude is weak and drooping; there is no difficulty in buying at the even dollar per brl, which is the lowest point it has reached yet; it was down to one dollar one time some months since, but we do not believe that it was sold at this figure. The production keeps up well, several new wells having been reported during the past week, and this, together with the monetary troubles, has caused the present depression. Refined is dull and prices are entirely nominal; 13½@13¾ on cars here, and 15¾@16 delivered in Philadelphia.

Oil Barrels in fair demand, but unchanged; countries $2.10; city made $2.15.

RIVER NEWS.

The river remains about stationary at this point, with scant two feet in channel. There was considerable rain during the afternoon, and the prospects this P. M. are favorable for more. Our river men are waiting very anxiously for water, and it is hoped that they will not have to wait much longer, as a resumption of navigation would be of great benefit to general business.

—The Cincinnati Gazette says:—The river continues to decline, with 3 feet 9 inches water here last evening. Four Mile is the worst place between here and Huntington, with less than thirty inches of water reported, and three boats aground there...Captain John Woodburn says Manchester is cut off as a steamboat landing on account of the bar. Passengers and freights are ferried between the shore and steamboat in a scow... The Charmer reshipped her freight at French Island on the T. N. Miller, and turned back from there. The Camelia is aground there. Only 22 inches water reported... The R. R. Hudson, which left here for Maysville Saturday evening, was badly aground at Four-Mile at noon yesterday...Busch, mate of the ill fated George C. Wolff, died in this city, yesterday morning, of fever contracted while watching the boat at Memphis...The body of John M. Askew, who jumped overboard and was drowned from the Davenport, on her last trip up, had been found at Alton, and is in possession of the Coroner of that City.

—The Supreme Court of Iowa has affirmed the decision of the Lee county, Iowa, District Court, in the case of Emily Congar against the Northwestern Packet Company. It will be recollected that the plaintiff purchased a first-class ticket on one of the company's packets on the Mississippi river, and on going to dinner was ejected from the first table, and also from the saloon cabin. She is said to be an educated and refined colored woman. Judge Beck, the Chief Justice, in his opinion, says:

1. A rule or custom of a steamboat, as a common carrier, requiring passengers of color to occupy a seat at a table in the pantry or on the guards of the boat, is not reasonable and cannot be enforced.

2. A person of color is entitled to the same rights and privileges when traveling upon a steamboat as a white person, and cannot be required by any rule or custom, based upon distinction on account of race or color, to accept other or different accommodations than those given to white passengers.

—The river raft—Will the work of its removal pay?—The Camden, Arkansas, Journal thinks it will not. Captain Shreve gave it up in 1840, after having twice succeeded in opening a passage. General Williamson succeeded twice in opening a channel in 1841 to 1845. Some 18 years ago Captain Fuller spent an appropriation of $150,000 in a vain attempt to remove this great obstruction. One fact seems to be possible—that is, to keep moving the raft up the river. This is not the way rafts usually travel, but this one seems to be an anomaly. When the last attempt was commenced, the raft was not continuous, there being only 7 or 8 miles of obstructed river in a distance of forty miles. This shows a disposition in the drifting timber to gorge at many points. May not the opening above cause a gorge above Shreveport and obstruct navigation for a time? This would be serious.

—A Cincinnati dispatch under date of yesterday says: It is stated here that the Exchange and Messenger will this fall form a line hence to Nashville, Clarksville and New Orleans. The captains and owners meet here to-morrow morning, to make arrangements for the ensuing year. The line last season did not work together harmoniously.

—The Katie P. Kountz passed Fort Randall on Monday at 2 P. M. The Nellie Peck passed Fort Randall on the 23rd. She was to leave Sioux City to-day for Fort Berthold with 100 tons of Durfee & Peck's freight, a quantity of Indian goods and some private freight.

NATION'S BANK
FOR SAVINGS,
NO. 51 NORTH DIAMOND,
ALLEGHENY.
This is the only chartered Savings Bank in Allegheny. The capital is One Hundred Thousand Dollars with the privilege of increasing it to Two Hundred Thousand. Its money is invested in first mortgages on property worth at least double the amount of the mortgages, so that there is no possibility of loss by the failure of individuals.
The charter makes the Deposits the first lien on the mortgages held by the Bank, thus affording the amplest Security to Depositors. An additional advantage afforded by the charter of this Bank is that married women and minor children can deposit in their own name, and it cannot be touched by husband, parent or guardian.
The highest Interest allowed on Time Deposits.
The Bank is open daily from 9 till 3 o'clock, and on Saturday evenings from 7 till 9.

HOME NEWS.

New Postoffice Rules.

The following rules now occupy prominent positions in sundry portions of the Postoffice:

None but sworn officers of the Postoffice Department admitted here.

No employes admitted except when on duty.

No smoking or profane language allowed in the building.

Any want of courtesy will cause immediate discharge.

Coming to Pittsburgh.

By a telegraph dispatch received last night, we learn that the Inspector General of Steamboats left Washington City for Pittsburgh. He comes here to make final arrangements, and to fix upon a time, for the experiments ordered to test the strength of steam boilers. The grounds, as our readers are aware, have been chosen and fitted up for the experiments, and little now needs to be done to complete the preliminary work necessary.

European Steamship Arrivals Yesterday.

Under the Water—Two Persons Drowned.

Four boys and a ferryman attempted to cross the Allegheny river opposite Fairview, on the West Penn Railroad yesterday. One of the boys and the ferryman were drowned, and the others narrowly escaped. The boys were all brothers, named Murray, and it seems that when near the middle of the stream a heavy gale struck the skiff causing it to founder, precipitating the occupants into the water. The body of the boy Murray has been recovered and Coroner West will hold an inquest to-day.

The Post Office Revelations.

PITTSBURGH, September 29, 1873.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

I appreciate the importance of the revelations recently made in the Pittsburgh Postoffice, but it seems to me that the real object aimed at has failed of success. What was intended was the discovery of the parties who rifled letters. These have not been discovered, nor so far as I can see has anything been accomplished through direct effort. The $16,000 draft may be credited with the discovery of the defalcation, notwithstanding the claims set up by certain parties. But what or who else can be credited with bringing around the other revelation? I refer to the revelations of the Postoffice robbers that the Detective and District Attorney started out to discover.

Scharff vs. Ten Eyck—The Championship.

The much talked of sculling match between Mr. Ten Eyck, of Peekskill, New York, and Mr. Scharff, of Pittsburgh, has assumed a tangible shape by our oarsman acquiescing in all the demands of the New York champion, who offered the New Yorker $100 for expenses if he would come to this city and row on the popular course above Lock No. 1 on the Monongahela river. Ten Eyck replied by claiming that as he was the challenged party, he had the right to name the course, and would only row at Peekskill, his home. Scharff then offered to row on neutral waters at Philadelphia, but this was declined, and the match was thought to have fallen through. But articles signed and certified were mailed yesterday to Peekskill, naming the time for next Saturday or any time during the month of October. Scharff appears to be determined to get on a race, and says that he will leave no chance open for his competitor to prevent the best oarsman from winning.

Scharff is in good condition at present, and requires but little preparation for the contest. He will not leave this city to within a few days prior to the date of the struggle, and will be accompanied by the ex-champion, Jimmy Hamill.

FINANCIAL.

General Confidence in Business Circles—The Banks will not Suspend—Decisive Action by the Clearing House Association.

Matters in business and financial circles were more satisfactory yesterday than they have been since the excitement began, more than a week ago. The people generally seemed to realize that the situation, so far as Pittsburgh is concerned, was not in any degree alarming, and that the worst was over. At a meeting of the Clearing House Association in the morning the question of suspension was discussed, and the decided feeling was that such a course was unnecessary, and would be unwise. Following is the record:

"A full meeting of the clearing house was held this morning, to consult on the present monetary situation, when it was resolved, that in view of the brightening prospects, no change was required in the manner of conducting the business of the banks and clearing house.

"S. F. VONBONNHORST,
"Manager and Secretary.

"September 29, 1873."

The banks were receiving and paying out as usual and the tone of affairs was full of encouragement.

"THAT LITTLE BOX."

Pandora Once More—A New Story of the Safe Deposit Robbery—The Latest Development.

The Safe Deposit Box mystery theme is not yet exhausted. The latest story is, that some time since three men were arrested and placed in the Reading jail. Their names are: John Fillen, John Phillips and John Klutz alias Boardman. These men were arrested on the charge of burglary. It is said of them that they belong to an organized band of thieves who have their headquarters in New York and Baltimore. These men it is said, know how to "crack a crib" and have "gone through" one or two banks. They have, it is said, been very successful in their operations. Since they have been under lock and key one of the party has made, it is said, a full confession of their connection with the box mystery and the case has been placed before the Grand Jury of this county, and should they find true bills against the parties implicated, in the "latest" developments, they will be brought here and have their trial in the Criminal Court. The confession made it is said is entirely voluntary, and is in substance as follows: He says that he and his companions, including Hampton, came to Pittsburgh on a general business tour of observation and while they were in the city, they saw the chance and captured the strong box of the Safe Deposit Company. One of the parties engaged the bank clerk in conversation, while Hampton went in and took that "little box" on that memorable Saturday afternoon. Hampton succeeded in carrying off the spoils, and there, in a room in the Monongahela House, the "swag" was divided among three men, and the fourth didn't even get a squint at the lid. It is said that he got so completely demoralized that he made this confession out of sheer disgust. How much credit can be placed upon this confession is not known. Of course those that ought to know say they have a strong case. The case will be brought up in ten days, at least that is what they say.

AMUSEMENTS.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—Last evening "Julius Cæsar" was produced at this house, with Mr. Lawrence Barrett as "Cassius," who also read the oration of "Mark Anthony" over the body of "Cæsar." Everybody almost in this vicinity is familiar with Mr. Barrett's "Cassius." He has not changed any, only for the better. He shows a deeper and more thorough study, and consequently gives a more finished representation. Mr. Ellsler as "Casca" was really excellent, and he shows that he has not lost the fire of his youth. Mr. Gotthold's "Brutus" was a noble personation, and was done in a remarkably effective manner. Mr. Gotthold is a great elocutionist, and he read his lines elegantly, fully sharing the honors with the star. Mr. Huntley as "Mark Anthony," and Price as "Cæsar," were both good, but might have been better. The scenery was new and chaste, and in keeping with the play. The support rendered was efficient, and everything went off smoothly. The house was crowded. The same bill to-night.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Last evening a large audience attended this house to witness the burlesque of "Little Don Giovanni" as rendered by the talented Chapman sisters. Miss Blanche enacted the "Little Don," Miss Ella "Leporella," and Miss Belle "Donna Anna," while Mr. Harry Allen played "Zerlina" the pretty little peasant girl. To say that the performance was successful would be but a faint expression. The local hits at follies of the day and the songs and dances were all applauded to the echo. The ladies really possess merit as artists and give a performance, that can not but be relished. They are most efficiently supported, by a competent corps of ladies and gentlemen. The performance commenced last evening with the laughable farce, "Your Life's in Danger." The music was rendered well and taken all in all it was a performance well worth seeing and was fully appreciated by the large audience present. The same bill to-night. Seats can be secured during the day at the box office.

Dr. Harris' Summer Cordial is warranted to cure Diarrhea, Dysentery, Cholera Morbus, Sick Stomach, and Cholera.

THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEES AGAIN.

Mr. FULTON then offered a new resolution for the consolidation of the Riddell and Jeremy committees. He advocated the passage of the resolution.

Mr. FINLEY, as a member of one of the committees, urged their consolidation.

Mr. HARRIS opposed the consolidation, alleging that there was a trick in it.

The resolution was passed.

CARSON STREET.

Mr. HARRIS offered an ordinance changing the grade of a portion of Carson street. He stated that the ordinance had been prepared by the City Engineer, under the direction of the Bridge Committee.

The President suggested that the ordinance seemed defective, in that it did not specify whether the change was to be made east or west of the bridge.

The City Engineer was asked to explain, and stated the purpose of the ordinance, and where the change was to be made.

Mr. FOLLANSBEE moved to refer to the Survey Committee, but after further explanation, withdrew the motion, and the ordinance passed finally.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Mr. HAYS submitted an amendment to section four of the ordinance creating the Paid Fire Department. The section provides that the Commissioners shall not have more than seven steamers, two hook and ladder companies, and one hose company. The amendment provides that the Commission shall employ eleven steamers, three hook and ladder companies and two hose carriages.

Mr. HAYS explained that this amendment was made to cover the recent increase in the fire apparatus on the South Side.

The amendment was passed and Council adjourned.

COL. STEWART'S CASE.

The Postmaster's Bond Received from Washington Yesterday—Civil Proceedings Instituted.

Yesterday morning the official bond of Postmaster Stewart was received from Washington City by the U. S. authorities here. Upon its receipt District Attorney Swoope, in compliance with instructions, commenced civil proceedings against Mr. Stewart and his bondsmen, Mr. James Kelly and Mr. John Stewart, to recover the amount due the Government. The exact amount was not specified. A summons was issued returnable the first Monday of November.

A REMINISCENCE.

Since the late "unpleasantness" in and about the postoffice, Colonel Robert Anderson has become quite a conspicuous character, from the fact that should the Civil Service law be carried out in its strict letter perhaps he would succeed Mr. Stewart as postmaster of Pittsburgh. But of this we have nothing to say.

Colonel Anderson, at the breaking out of the war with Mexico, was a clerk in the Pittsburgh Postoffice, a position which he resigned to follow the fortunes of the Duquesne Greys in their march to the "halls of the Montezumas."

After the invincible hosts under General Scott had reached and subdued the famous City of Mexico, communication with the States was established on something like a uniform basis, and it was found necessary to select some suitable person to take charge of the mail matter arriving by every train.

COLONEL ANDERSON

was selected for this position, and so satisfactorily did he fill it that he was "booked" for the Postmaster Generalship of the Mexican States in the event of their becoming a conquered province, which at that time seemed probable. But N. P. Treist and General Scott concluded a treaty with Mexico, and the boys had to "come marching home again." Returning to his native city, Colonel Anderson (then known as Sergeant Anderson) resumed his old place in the postoffice, and we need not recount his subsequent career.

Yesterday we found the Colonel in his shirt sleeves, seemingly "up to the eyes in business." Having been "interviewed" so often recently, we let him off as easily as possible, and give all the information we could extract from him.

THE "LADY CLERK."

In reply to a question as to who the lady clerk was, referred to in the papers, the Colonel stated that she is the daughter of the late Postmaster McClelland, a lady highly educated, who has assisted her father as a copyist, and has been retained in the same position by Colonel Stewart. The copying is done at her home—not in the postoffice.

THAT LIVERY STABLE CLERK

We inquired about the fifteen hundred dollar clerk who is charged with running a livery stable and not a postoffice. The Colonel smiled, and pointed to Mr. Little, who was just closing his books, which he assured us were balanced to a copper.

THOSE PAY ROLLS.

The Colonel is very emphatic in his denial of the charges that the clerks in the office signed vouchers for more than their salary amounted to, alleging that they were men of intelligence, and could see what they signed for. He states that all he had to do with the pay rolls was to see that they were duly forwarded to Washington.

IN THE POSTOFFICE.

We noticed Hon. H. B. Swoope and Colonel Petherbridge in the office, looking serene and happy, and on emerging from the dingy old building saw Thomas M. Marshall taking a view of the situation.

SYNODICAL.

The Synod of Erie—The Continuation of the Session—Condition of the Work Throughout—The Missionary Work Embarrassed for Want of Money.

The Presbyterian Synod of Erie continued its sessions yesterday.

Dr. Hays President of the Washington and Jefferson College, extended an invitation to members of the Synod to attend the laying of the corner stone of the new building, which comes off October 21st. He made quite a lengthy address in reference to the prospects of the College The invitation was accepted.

The Committee on Colportage submitted a report, showing a favorable condition of that Board. Dr. McKinny declared his intention of resigning the position which he had so long held. The report showed a good balance on hand, and which was deposited in solid banks. Report received.

The last Friday in September was fixed as the time and Mercer as the place of the next meeting.

The Committee on Narative of the state of religion in the various churches of the Synod submitted a report through the Rev. J. E. Wright. The report showed that the Butler Presbytery had had the most extensive revival during the past year. Death had taken more of the Allegheny Presbytery than of any other, four of its ministers having died the past year. The Sunday School work was reported to be in a flourishing condition, though the Church Extension and Erection Committee had not made such progress as had been hoped for. The report was received and adopted.

The Committee on Education and Home Missions submitted a report urging that more care be taken in examining candidates for the ministry as to their personal piety and ability.

Dr. Irving, Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, addressed the meeting on the claims of the Board. He gave an interesting account of their operations and of the success that had attended the work in India, Siam, China, and other fields, and showed that the great need now was more money, with which to carry on its work more vigorously by sending out new missionaries. The men were ready, but the funds were low.

A Committee was appointed to take take the matter under consideration.

The committee on the minutes of the General Assembly submitted a report asking the Synod to secure a more earnest contribution of property to the Lord as a duty, and urging the consolidation of all the Boards into one Central Board.

The last recommendation occasioned a great deal of discussion, and the whole report was finally referred to a committee.

The principal business at the afternoon session was a report from Rev. Dr. Hodge, recommending that the question of unemployed ministers be referred to a special committee. Carried.

In the evening a grand mission meeting was held, at which addresses were made by Rev. Drs. Irving and Logan.

Dr. Hodge, after the speeches, presented a resolution recommending an increase of 20 per cent in the collections for the Boards of the church, which was approved.

Synod then adjourned to meet in November, 1874.

THE WILKINSBURG MYSTERY.

Investigation into the Cause of Edward Sweeny's Death—What Evidence Was Adduced—The Question of Murder in Doubt—"I Had to Defend Myself"—The Swelled Hand—"I Got It in a Scuffle With Sweeny"—Adjournment of the Inquest.

Yesterday the inquest on the body of Edward Sweeny, the farmer of Wilkins township who is supposed to have died under suspicious circumstances, was commenced in the office of Justice Luke B. Davison, in Wilkinsburg. The residents of that portion of our city seem to be much divided as to the opinion in regard to the cause of Mr. Sweeny's death. Many people ignore entirely the idea of murder, while others think that Hughes, the man under arrest, committed the deed, but accidentally, having no previous malice. The fact of the parties being thrown out of the wagon was entirely disapproved. It was clearly shown that the horses did not run away, but that Hughes and Sweeny had a scuffle, and that Sweeny was very drunk on the night that he received his injuries. The inquest was commenced shortly after two o'clock and the first witness called was Mr. Manassas S. Boyle, of Penn township, the man who preferred

THE CHARGE OF MURDER AGAINST JOHN HUGHES.

He testified that he knew Edward Sweeny over six years, and that he only preferred the charge against Hughes on the information of Elisha Duff merely from hearsay, and remarks that were dropped in a store by John Hughes, when he went to get some liniment for a bruised hand. Dr. John Sample, the physician who attended deceased was next sworn and examined. He testified: Am a practicing physician; I was called on on Wednesday last to see deceased; saw him between eleven and twelve o'clock in the morning; found him paralyzed; found a fracture of the lower cervical vertebræ and a fusion of the spine, which produced paralysis; the injury would generally be produced by a fall; it might be done by a fall on the floor; I don't think any man could strike a blow hard enough to produce that effect; the blow would not have to be great to produce a fusion; it was the lower cervical that was fractured; there was only one fracture, the fifth; made a careful examination; there was nothing the matter with his head; no concussion of the brain; he was totally paralyzed; he was sane to the last; don't think I asked him how he was hurt;

TOLD HIM HE WOULD DIE;

he then told me he fell out of his wagon on to the ground, and was thus hurt; he might have walked twenty-five yards to the house before paralysis was produced; he could walk before the fusion commenced; if only a small vessel was ruptured, it would take two or three days before he would be paralyzed; if a large one, he might be paralyzed in a few moments; saw no marks of violence about him; saw him four or five times a day before he died; I never suspected foul play; he told me in the presence of Father Burke that he had fallen out of the wagon; he would gradually have fallen in case the fusion did set in; he would not have fallen at once; never knew a case to recover; men never live more than three or four days after being paralyzed by such an injury the flesh commences to drop.

To a juror—He might have fallen out and not felt the hurt;

BREAKING THE BACK

does not usually cause much pain; I don't think a blow of the fist could have done it; it might be done in a scuffle; I only examined the back, breast and spine; made no thorough post mortem examination; saw the injuries were sufficient to produce death.

Mr. I. N. Hughes was the next witness. He testified that John Hughes came into his store one night and called for a bottle of liniment; that was the latter part of last week; he had a swelled hand; he told Mr. Stoner in the store that he had got the hurt in a scuffle with Mr. Sweeny; he was sorry, but he had to strike him; he did not speak to me; he did not say when or where the scuffle was; he said he had told Sweeny two or three times to let him alone; he did not say that he struck him, but that he tried to evade him, and that Sweeny tore his vest, and I believe he said shirt. Mr. Stoner was only visiting the store; he (Mr. I. N. Hughes) carried on the drug and grocery business.

The next witness was Mr. Abraham Stoner. He testified: Reside in Wilkinsburg; deal in groceries and dry goods; Mr. John Hughes and I held a conversation in Mr. I. N. Hughes' drug store on Thursday evening; John Hughes' hand was swollen; he told me he had struck Sweeny; Sweeny had hit him on the eye and tore his vest; he didn't say where or when he struck him; he didn't tell me where he had been; he said am positive it was on Thursday evening that he told me; he didn't tell me he knocked Sweeny down by the blow; he said he hadn't struck a man before in twenty-four years; was sorry he was compelled to strike him; he said that Sweeny had struck him and torn his vest off his body; it was about half-past eight o'clock that he told me on Thursday evening; it was the evening before Mr. Sweeny died; he never told me the cause of the fuss; he told me that night he had heard Mr. Sweeny was dead.

HE WAS COMPELLED TO STRIKE SWEENY;

Mrs. Margaret Frey was the next witness called and sworn, but she merely recited a conversation she had had with a Mrs. Creelman. It tended to show that Hughes had to Mrs. Creelman while she was visiting Mrs. Hughes, who was ill.

Mrs. Martha Creelman was next sworn. She testified: Reside in Wilkinsburg; don't know much about Mr. Sweeny's death; went to see Mrs. Hughes on Wednesday afternoon; Mr. Hughes was in the bedroom; she told me he was sick; he had gone over on Tuesday to get some meat, when he went to William's tavern and had a fuss with Mr. Sweeny; he said that he and Sweeny had a fuss; he had torn his blouse, shirt and vest, and struck him, and he was compelled to take his own part; Mrs. Hughes told me that she understood the trouble had occurred at Williams' tavern; she said they had a dispute; she did not tell me how Hughes was hurt; Hughes' hand was swollen; she did not say how it was hurt; it was on Wednesday I saw him; his hand seemed quite swollen; I was sent to see her; she was sick; saw her yesterday; she said nothing; she seemed much affected; Mr. Hughes himself said they had a scuffle; he did not suggest how he got his hand hurt; I inferred nothing, as I did not know Mr. Sweeny was hurt; I first heard of Mr. Sweeny being hurt on Thursday.

I STAID AT HUGHES' ALL NIGHT;

I saw the priest go up with a son of deceased, and thought then something was wrong; it was the first visit I made to Hughes' for over two months; I left on Thursday morning about six o'clock; don't know as Mr. Hughes told me that he struck Sweeny.

The next witness called was Bernard Clinton. He testified: Reside in East Liberty; keep a tavern; Mr. John Kiernan went to the country to hunt a stray horse, on Tuesday last, and when coming home in the evening it was raining, and we stopped in Mr. Williams'; saw Mr. Sweeny lying in the back room on his back; asked what was the matter; Mr. Williams said he'd drank too much, and fell off his feet; Mr. Kiernan shook him by the shoulder and asked him if he knew him; he said "you're John," and that was all he spoke; we thought he'd better go home; he was set up on a chair by some parties; I think his son was one of them; hay was put in the bottom of the wagon and he was taken home; I was not present when Williams and Sweeny came into the house; I came about half past eight in the evening; saw no one come out; the doors were locked; went in the back way; dont know the names of the parties that were in the house; there were no words; I knew they had been to East Liberty; they had been into my place to get a drink; Mr. Sweeny drank mineral water; he looked well; this was about three o'clock in the afternoon; there was no excitement when we went in; they were standing around deceased when we went in; went straight in the room where Mr. Sweeny was lying; didn't see Mr. Hughes; dont knew him.

Mrs. Elizabeth Curtiss also was sworn, but she only testified to hearsay and could say nothing positive.

Michael Williams, the proprietor of the house, was the next witness examined. He evidently did not care to testify, as he evaded nearly all the direct questions. Below will be found his testimony: I am the keeper of the tavern where Mr. Sweeny is supposed to have been hurt; am proprietor of the Penn Avenue House; Mr. Sweeny and myself came from East Liberty in a wagon on Tuesday last about eight o'clock in the evening; drove to the house; went into the yard and got out of the wagon; we went into the sitting room; another gentleman came in shortly after; think it was Mr. Hughes; Mr. Sweeny and I were talking;

MR. SWEENY COMMENCED ON HIM;

he wanted to have a scuffle; don't know what was said; Mr. Hill knows; he was present; heard Sweeny had hold first; we were both intoxicated; I don't know what happened; I was too drunk; our team didn't run away; we were not thrown out; Mr. Hill says that Sweeny caught hold of Hughes first; I saw both on the floor; I said it wouldn't do; saw no blows struck; Hughes then got up and went out; Mr. Hughes came in five or ten minutes after us; I saw them both on the floor; they didn't strike or kick each other; I went into the hall; I ain't certain where the scuffle took place; I didn't have a clear head; Mr. Sweeny had drank considerable.

To a juror—Neither of us fell out of the wagon; they were seperated by me saying this wont do; Hughes got up and walked out; I staid in the room only a little while; I went into the hall and heard no blows struck; they were struggling on the floor; I don't know that Hughes was drunk.

To the Coroner—We got out of the wagon together all right; Mr. Sweeney did not get up; we set him on a chair; he sat there fifteen minutes; he didn't fall off; he said he was sick; helped to carry him out; there was only another man in the room; Mr. Hill; he did not take part in the scuffle so far as I know; don't know as he fell back off the seat in the wagon; I know he got out of the wagon safe. There was positively no run off. Mr. Sweeny was all right before Hughes came in.

Mr. Dennis Duff, a brother-in-law of deceased, was also examined, but he only spoke from hearsay, consequently his evidence had no bearing on the case. He said, however, that he visited deceased before his death, and he found him sensible to the last. Sweeny had told him that he fell in getting a cider barrel out of the wagon, but said nothing of the fuss. This closed the evidence. Thomas Hill, a very important witness, who, it is said, saw the fight, could not be found, so the inquest was adjourned till this afternoon at four o'clock at Justice Davison's office, when it is expected the witness will be present.

Thomas J. O'Keefe Esq., was present at the inquest, representing the interests of Mr. Sweeny and seeing to the production of evidence for the prosecution.

FALL CAMPAIGN OF THE # Homestead Bank.

Auction Sales of the Best Surburban Properties Now For Sale in the County—60x120 Feet, and One to Five Acre Lots, in the West Addition to Homestead—Saturday, October 4, at 1:30 P. M.

Terms—One-fifth cash; balance in four annual payments, with interest.

This magnificent property having been purchased before the opening of the railroad and before the great sale at Homestead, in 1871, was secured at a price that enables the Bank to make a satisfactory profit while selling it for less than adjoining lands can now be bought at wholesale.

There was never a surer speculation than buyers at this sale will have.

Free Train leaves South Pittsburgh Station at 1 o'clock P. M., sharp.

Also, 80x150 feet and One to Three Acre Lots at Homestead Park, Monday Afternoon, October 6th. Special Trains from Union Depot at 1 o'clock P. M. Sharp.

In the face of extravagant, not to say preposterous and mendacious claims put forth for properties in no way comparable to Homestead Park, we shall attempt no description of its beauties or advantages, but simply ask all who contemplate suburban investment, either for use or speculation, to COME OUT AND LOOK AT IT, and we challenge intelligent criticism not only of the property, but of the assertion that the likelihood of LARGE PROFIT TO PURCHASERS is greater at Homestead Park than at any other equally distant property now in the market.

Also, 60x120 feet, and 1 to 3 Acre Lots, at Homestead Terrace, on Monday afternoon, October 13. Special train on A. V. R. R. at 1 o'clock P. M. Sharp.

Accessible from the city by the A. V. R. R. and the new driving road, Wildwood avenue, HOMESTEAD TERRACE is destined to become a center of suburban improvement. It is, in truth, the first eligible site for a village outside the city, and is two miles nearer the city than Verona or any of the suburbs of that village.

To all whose business will permit a residence on the A. V. R. R., the TERRACE offers advantages not to be found further away from the city, where as much is asked for 25x100—2,500 square feet—as will buy 60x120—7,200 square feet—at Homestead Terrace.

The terms of sale at Homestead Park and Homestead Terrace is one-tenth cash, balance in 9 equal payments without interest. Second mortgage privilege to those who build; free life insurance to those of suitable age and health.

A Reliable House.

In the selection of no other goods than jewelry is it so desirable to find a stock which the purchaser knows to be just what it is represented to be. Good jewelry—that which is of finished workmanship and of undoubted quality—is a pleasure to the possessor; but where such an article can be obtained is a question not always easily answered. Those who are seeking such goods need go no further after reaching the store of George W. Biggs, at No. 159 Smithfield street. Here the purchaser will find a stock not only large and complete, but each article of the best quality and finest workmanship. Mr. Biggs' thorough knowledge of the jewelry trade enables him to furnish to customers such goods as are bound to give satisfaction, while the prices will be found as reasonable as those of any house in the city. The number, it should be remembered, is 159 Smithfield street.

THE TONIC OF THE PERIOD.

This is a trying season to persons deficient in stamina and out of health. To rally their physical energies by the most approved artificial means is a duty they owe to themselves. Foremost among the tonics and alteratives of the age stands Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It is a vegetable stimulant and corrective, against which no tenable objection can be urged. There is no risk in recommending it as the best preparation in existence for renovating an enfeebled and broken down system. The most valuable medicinal products that nature has ever yielded to botanical research are blended in this famous elixir, and its stimulating basis is recognized in our public hospitals as the purest of all the varieties of distilled liquors. For general debility, nervous weakness, dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, billiousness and intermittent fevers it is a positive specific.

Heartless Case of Breach of Promise—Damage £350.

[From the Liverpool Mercury, Sept. 9.]

At the Sheriff Court, Preston, yesterday, the Under Sheriff and a jury sat to assess damages in a case of breach of promise and seduction of as heartless a character as could possibly be imagined. The plaintiff, Sarah Cragg, rather good looking, is the daughter of a large farmer at Hutton, near Kendal, and the defendant, John S. Clarke, is the son of a farmer at Slainbank Green, near the same town. The courtship commenced so long ago as 1860, when the plaintiff was eighteen and the defendant nineteen years of age. The defendant first met the plaintiff at a ball at her uncle's, and soon afterward he began to pay her marked attention. In 1863, while away from home, the plaintiff received the first letter the defendant had ever written to her. It was a very commonplace production, and simply intimated that the defendant could not attend a ball he had promised to go to, but he signed himself "Yours ever, J. Clarke," and at the top of it there were several verses of poetry, addressed to "Her I love." The courtship continued without anything worthy of note until 1865. In June of that year a sister of the plaintiff's was married, and the defendant was at the ceremony. In the evening of the same day, the defendant under a solemn promise to marry the plaintiff, at Martinmas, succeeded in seducing her. She was living at this time at Maidenhill, and when she found she was enciente she returned home. The distress and anxiety of mind which she suffered in consequence of her condition brought on a miscarriage. Instead of the defendant keeping his promise to marry the plaintiff, he continued to excuse himself on one pretext or another until October, 1866. He then told her that the farm was his own, and that he would marry her in the spring of 1867. She believed him and again improper intimacy took place, and in due course a child was born. The defendant when appealed to, refused to marry the poor girl, and she was at length compelled to affiliate the child. An order was made on the defendant, and they did not see each other again for over eighteen months or more. In 1872 they met at Kendal, at the market, and the defendant urged the plaintiff to allow him to renew his acquaintance with her, as he would come into possession of the farm in the spring of 1873, and was desirous of marrying her. He said she had been brought up all her life to farming pursuits, and he thought she was likely to make him a good wife. She refused to have anything to do with him at that time, but in April of the same year, when they saw each other again, he renewed his protestations, and she consented to his writing her. He told her he had £1,000 independently of his mother (his father being dead at the time, as also was the father of the plaintiff), and that he had sufficient for them both. It was then arranged that the marriage should take place in the spring of 1873. In May, 1872, they were together at a circus in Kendal, and on returning to the home of the plaintiff they found the family gone to bed. Illicit intercourse again followed, and another child was born. Arrangements had been made for the marriage of the parties some months before this event, but the wedding never took place, and a week or two after an affiliation summons had been served on the defendant he married another woman. The jury awarded the plaintiff £350.
